JANUARY BUSINESS ON P. E. SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Figures Indicate 100 Per Cent Growth Over Same Month Year Ago

January, 1923, shows 100 percent increase in freight business at the Glendale Pacific Electric freight and express station, 135 North Maryland avenue, over the same month last year.

This gladsome news was given out today by J. R. Turner of the freight department who said about 400 cars of freight were received during 1922 and another 100 cars shipped out over the electric line which has only short hauls.

The total freight business, in round figures, amounted to $50,000 here last year. A great deal of American Railway Express business also is handled at the Pacific Electric's freight station.

H. L. LeGrand, Pacific Electric agent, states there is no way of estimating the amount of passenger business done on the Glendale line except to search the reports in the Los Angeles office as tickets are sold here, on the cars and in Los Angeles.

Ticket Business Grows

More than $19,000 more ticket business was done for the Southern Pacific the past year by the Pacific Electric up-town office in Glendale than the year previous, according to Mr. LeGrand. People may call at 121 South Brand boulevard and have their entire travel needs attended to, he claims.

Speaking generally of the red car line's traffic, the agent says a steady increase in travel is seen, consistent with the growth of Glendale. It does not compare with the 100 per cent increase in freight or Southern Pacific ticket business, however.

Find Lady Astor's Name Among Fugitive's Mail

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Listing among her "friends" Lady Astor, woman representative in British house of parliament, Mrs. Rosie Chamberlain is being held in the Los Angeles city jail on a fugitive warrant from San Angelo, Texas.

Detectives Lloyd and Roberts, who made the arrest, said today they found among Mrs. Chamberlain's effects in the pretentious home she occupied in the exclusive Wilshire district, documents indicating she had used the name of Mrs. Mary Hickman in marrying L. P. Grimes at San Angelo in December, 1922. She is alleged to have disappeared nine days later with $11,000 belonging to him.

The detectives also said they found a letter addressed to Lady Astor and urging her to come to Los Angeles to visit. It was signed "Your sincere and devoted friend, Mrs. Chamberlain."

Detective Refuses to Reveal 'Red' Evidence

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—On the grounds that to do so would be revealing important government secrets, Allen O. Myers, assistant New York manager of the Burns International Detective agency, refused here today to answer many questions put to him at a hearing preceding the trial, March 5 at St. Joseph, Mich., of twenty-three alleged "reds." Depositions are being taken here for defense of the radicals.

Myers, accused with others by Albert Balanow, alias Bailin, spy and agitator, of having fomented troubles to get radicals "in bad," denied he bore any hostility for the twenty-three defendants, although he admitted he was unfriendly "to liars like Balanow."

Favor Direct Vote to Change Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A movement to place all amendments to the constitution before the American people for a direct vote on their ratification gained favor today before the senate judiciary committee.

A proposal which would amend the constitution itself to authorize ratification of the future amendments by the people instead of state legislatures, was considered by the committee, with indications it would be approved at the next meeting.

The proposal was said to result from criticism of the votes of state legislatures on the prohibition and woman suffrage amendments.

Nominations for New Officers of Elks Are Now About Complete

February, March and April are always interesting months in activities of the Elks' lodge, featuring as they do the nomination, election and installation of new officers.

Nominations can be made at any meeting during the month of February, according to the lodge by-laws, and Glendale Elks are keenly interested in the nominations that have already been made. The nominations are now practically complete and the next interest will be the election.

Election is always held the first meeting night in March and the installation the first meeting night in April.

Routine business will occupy the meeting hour at the lodge home tonight. Following the meeting there will be entertainment by a troup of entertainers sent to Glendale by Foster Curry, well known hotel man of Yosemite valley and Lebec.

BRITISH TO CEDE ARMY RAIL LINES

Railroads in Occupied Zone Will Be Surrendered to French Troops

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Preparations have been made by the British to surrender all the railways through the British zone of military occupation on the Rhine to the French, according to a Central News dispatch from Cologne this afternoon.

There are three trunk lines and many branches in the Cologne district. The French have not yet replied to the latest British communication on the surrender of the lines, the Central News dispatch added.

Mrs. Everington Hurt In Automobile Crash

Col. and Mrs. James W. Everington had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when a Ford car driven by a man who is said to have been learning to drive crashed into their automobile at Beverly Hills, inflicting severe cuts on Mrs. Everington's face and wrecking their car. Col. Everington escaped injury.

Col. and Mrs. Everington had left their home at 531 North Louise street for a trip to Santa Monica and had reached Beverly Hills when the other car struck them. The driver of the Ford was thrown through the windshield and appeared to be in a dazed condition as the result of the crash, which broke off the steering wheel and which is believed to have inflicted internal injuries on him.

Mrs. Everington was given medical attention near the scene of the accident and was also treated by her physician as soon as she reached Glendale. Aside from the shock following the accident her condition is not such as to cause her friends any alarm.

Bandits Secure $2500 Loot in Movie Theatre

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 19.—Four armed bandits, held up three employes of the Capitol motion picture theatre here today, tied up the watchman, blew the safe and escaped with $2,500.

DENTISTRY LAW VALID

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Washington state dentistry law was held valid by the supreme court today in a deciding suit brought by state authorities against a decision in the federal district court condemning the law.

Uncle John Says:

Mary and me was readin' where Dr. Rasmus told the Chamber of Commerce that faith in Glendale is necessary for the future progress of the city and that Glendale can be made the fairest city in America. That sounds so much like Mary that I wouldn't be surprised to hear she had wrote Dr. Rasmus' speech for him. She was awful pleased when she read it and she says, "John, if everyone was like me and you and Dr. Rasmus, Glendale wouldn't have to worry none about her future."

CASA VERDUGO ART ASSOCIATION HAS PUBLIC SESSION

John W. Cotton, Local Artist, Gives Talk; Organization Plans Future Programs

John W. Cotton, the well-known artist whose home is in Glendale, yesterday afternoon gave a very instructive talk on the progress of art from primitive times, at a well-attended public reception of the Casa Verdugo Park & Art association, held in "La Ramada," the old adobe on North Brand boulevard.

Mr. Cotton was made to feel very much at home as he talked, by reason of an exhibit of some fifty of his aqua-tints and etchings that hung from the walls of the great south room where the audience was gathered.

He opened his remarks with a brief survey of pre-Egyptian art, 4000 years prior to the Christian era, then paralleled his subject with the evolution of man through all the following centuries, up to the present day, showing how in each age, each nation had beheld and interpreted its vision of the beautiful, and pointing out that some of that primitive work was so pure in line and so exquisite in form that it has yet to be excelled.

Visits Odd Corners

Mr. Cotton's remarks were very well received, as were his etchings. The series of Belgian aqua-tones, particularly, created an impression.

These subjects are considered among his best work. Being a great traveler, he has poked into many odd and picturesque corners of the world, and the products of his press profit thereby.

Especially were "Belfry of Bruges from Canal," "Pont St. Boniface, Bruges," "Belfry of Bruges at Night" and "Tranquility" of a loveliness that marks John W. Cotton as one of the out standing exponents of this exquisite process.

In all of these and in many

BUS SYSTEM MAY CHANGE ITS NAME

C. D. Gulick Sees Delay If Company Is Forced to Re-Incorporate

Reincorporation of the Southern Pacific Motor Bus Company under a new name was hinted by C. D. Gulick today since the great railway corporation, bearing a similar name, had complained of the conflict. This probably will take six or eight weeks' time in the opinion of the promoter of the Glendale Motor Bus Company who has his offices at 109 South Brand boulevard.

Quite a large assemblage was present Saturday night at a mass meeting to learn the latest phases of the motorbus situation. Lantern slides depicting the newest types of carriers were thrown on the screen and a great deal of interest evinced in Mr. Gulick's able description of the possibilities in this field.

Attends Meeting

Before his departure for Los Angeles this morning to attend a meeting of operators of motor bus companies throughout California, Mr. Gulick made a few comments on a new aspect of the situation.

Owing to the heavy taxes against profits earned by motor bus companies, it is necessary that a separate company be organized to manufacture the busses to be used by the Glendale Motor Bus Company, he says. He was given a preliminary permit by the state corporation commission to incorporate under the name of the Southern Pacific Motor Bus Company. Now that the necessary legal papers have been prepared and the company is ready to issue stock, actual permit is being delayed by the corporation commission until the Southern Pacific Railroad Company can be granted a hearing, he says.

Indiana G. O. P. Protests Appointment of New

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — A formal protest against the appointment of Senator Harry S. New, Republican, Indiana, as postmaster-general, was lodged with President Harding today by Representative William R. Wood, Republican, of the same state.

Wood said he was making the protest, "in behalf of the Republican organization of Indiana.

High Caste Hindus Not Entitled To Naturalization, According To Ruling Of U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The supreme court of the United States held today high caste Hindus of full Indian blood are not white persons within the meaning of the United States law and are not entitled to naturalization. The case arose out of the naturalization of Bhagat Singh Thind, a high caste Hindu of full Indian blood, born at Amrit Sar, Punjab, India, by the federal district court in Oregon and which refused to cancel the certificate of citizenship on a bill of complaint filed by the United States naturalization authorities.

The government held that the certificate was procured illegally in that Thind, being a Hindu, is not a white person and not lawfully entitled to naturalization.

Thind was admitted into the United States in 1913 and is 28 years old. He entered the American army during the war with Germany, served six months and was honorably discharged.

AFFECTS CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The decision of the supreme court of the United States today holding that high caste Hindus are not eligible to citizenship will have an important effect in California, Attorney General U. S. Webb declared today when informed of the decision.

"Hindus have been leasing and acquiring land in California by purchase very extensively and up until this decision had been able to do so because lower courts had held that the Brahmin caste was white and eligible to citizenship.

"This decision apparaently covers the Brahmin caste and will result in their holdings being closed out and put a stop to a movement which threatened to be a menace to western states."

OFFICER BOOTH IS INJURED WHILE CHASING AUTO

Traffic Policeman Is Hurled From Bike When Car Turns Suddenly

George M. Booth, motorcycle officer, today is recovering at his home, 1140 Spazier street, from an accident about 7:20 o'clock Saturday night, in which he was knocked unconscious.

Officer Booth was chasing a Ford coupe east on California avenue when it turned suddenly north on Kenwood street and his motorcycle was thrown to the ground and he was pitched to the ground. No bones were broken, but he was badly shaken up and received several cuts.

The police department today is endeavoring to trace the automobile, which kept right on going after the accident. It is reported that it contained three men, all of whom seemed to be more or less under the influence of liquor. Officer Booth estimated that it was going about forty-five miles an hour.

No other serious accidents were reported over the week-end at the police department.

Slight Accidents

David M. Davis of 630 Salem street was driving north on Central avenue about 8:30 p. m. Saturday. When he started to turn into Salem street, a collision occurred between his machine and one driven southward on Central avenue by Dr. W. W. Warriner of 104 South Brand boulevard.

A. E. Myers, Jr., of 938 Orange Grove avenue, was unable to stop his machine quickly enough on Brand boulevard near Forest avenue, when a machine driven by Edward Hollenbeck of 2000 East Vernon street stopped suddenly. The left rear fender of Mr. Hollenbeck's car was damaged.

Urge Harding to Call Economic Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Another vigorous appeal to President Harding to summon an international economic conference was made in the senate today.

Asserting the need for closer world wide association of nations never was greater, Senator Owen, Democrat, of Oklahoma, urged adoption of his resolution, requesting the President to call a three months' conference of all nations of the earth, the chief purpose of which would be formulation of workable methods for "promotion of international trade and understanding."

MAYOR CALLS ON PEOPLE TO HELP WAR VETERANS

Tag Day Next Saturday to Raise Money to Carry on Organization Work

The following proclamation is issued to the people of Glendale by their mayor, Spencer Robinson, in behalf of the War Mothers organization "Tag Day" drive next Saturday, February 24:

"One of the Glendale organizations which in its own field is unobtrusively doing a most splendid and needed work is the War Mothers.

"In order to raise the necessary funds for their work during the coming year, they plan to put on a Tag Day next Saturday, February 24, under the leadership of Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer, Chairman of the Hospital Committee, and Mrs. Cowlin, County Organizer and Chairman of the local Relief Committee. Volunteers will be organized who will sell tags upon the streets of Glendale on that day at the nominal price of 10 cents. However, I wish to urge upon our patriotic people not to stop at that sum. Let's all make a substantial contribution to this needed work, every penny of which, without any deductions whatsoever for expenses, will go for the welfare work of this organization for the relief of destitute or disabled ex-soldiers.

Right to Employment

"Let's show by our contributions on Saturday that Glendale has not forgotten the boys who fought so valiantly for us over seas. Many sad cases are constantly coming to light in Glendale, particularly among boys who were gassed or otherwise partially disabled while serving under the colors in France. Such boys cannot stand heavy manual labor. They have a right to honorable employment at some class of labor which they can perform. I have personally known many of these boys. They are willing to work and all they ask is an opportunity to collect bills, to drive motor cars or do any other light outside work which their physical condition will permit. I wish to urge all employers in Glendale to take the trouble to phone to the American Legion Employment Committee consisting of Mr. Dru Nicoles at the Telephone Company's office or City Manager Reeves at the City Hall whenever suitable employment of this kind can be had for these boys. Several applications are now on hand.

"Do your bit on Saturday and then keep in mind the needs of these boys for suitable employment during the coming year."

"SPENCER ROBINSON,
"Mayor of Glendale."

Agents Raid Select Bootlegging Resort

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19. — Raiding a residence in fashionable South Gramercy place, prohibition agents from the office of Agent-in-Charge H. H. Dolley, early today arrested two men and one woman, and broke up what they declared was the highest-class bootlegging resort yet uncovered in southern California. Those arrested were Harry Johnson, John Tobin, alias James Kingsley and Mrs. Nina Kuhn. The house was said to have been rented by the trio for $300 a month.

TWO BODIES MAY BE IN TOMB OF EGYPTIAN KING

More Than One Mummy in Inner Chamber, Belief Of Egyptologists

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 19—There may be two bodies instead of one in the thirty century old tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, in the Valley of the Kings, according to belief expressed today by Egyptologists present Sunday at the formal opening of the inner chamber.

Supposition that there is more than one mummy in the inner chamber was based upon the size of a double canopied sarcophagus and the wide variety of jewelry and other articles strewn about the tomb.

So extensive is the find and so fragile are some of the objects, notably woven clothes and frail furnitures, that it is estimated by Howard Carter, one of the chiefs of the exploring party, that it may take two years to remove all the articles from the tomb.

Must Use Great Care

The secret of the sarcophagus, with its golden canopies secured by great bolts hung on hinges of pure bronze, may not be revealed until late next autumn, unless present plans are changed. The inner chamber of the tomb is to be closed as soon as all the portable articles are removed this week. No effort will be made to pry into the contents of the sarcophagus.

On account of the weather prevailing in Egypt many treasures will be left untouched for the time. The greatest care must be taken with those that can be removed now. The finely woven garments are so fragile that the most delicate handling will be necessary. Already some of them appear to be crumbling to dust. But the marvelous pigments remain, a monument to the coloring art of the ancient Egyptians.

LABOR HEAD DIES IN PISTOL DUEL

Cafe Patrons Seek Cover as Battle Rages Between Rival Leaders

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Society slummers were struck dumb early today as they witnessed the killing of Stephen Kelliher, prominent labor leader, in the cafe of Al Tearney, well known minor league baseball president.

Kelliher was shot dead by Daniel McCarthy, business agent of the plumbers' union.

The shooting took place before more than 200 guests that were merrily dining, dancing and chatting in the restaurant and cabaret.

A spectator, Mrs. Thomas Golden, who was dancing with her husband, was shot in the shoulder by a stray bullet.

Claims Self Defense

Eye-witnesses said McCarthy and two other labor leaders were seated at a table near the dancing floor with three young women when Mr. and Mrs. Kelliher entered the place.

Mrs. Kelliher, it was said, came over to the table and addressed some warm remarks to McCarthy. McCarthy and Kelliher had been friends but "broke" recently. McCarthy made remarks in kind.

Kelliher drew a gun. Tearney, the proprietor, sought to pacify him. Kelliher began shooting.

McCarthy stood up, drew his gun and shot Kelliher squarely between the eyes.

McCarthy rushed from the place. He was brought to a dead stop a block away by a policeman who got the "drop" on him.

"I killed him in self defense" said McCarthy.

The police say that another of Chicago's interminable labor quarrels was back of the murder.

Charter Amendments Will Be Considered

Consideration of the proposed amendments to the city charter is to occupy the time tonight at the meeting of the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce meeting in the C. of C. headquarters.

George Karr, committee chairman, is to direct the meeting. Dr. Jessie A. Russell, secretary, announces that any one having suggestions as to the charter amendments are to submit them in writing.

The meeting is called for 7:30 o'clock.

Tuesday Club Board Holds First Meeting In Its New Building

An outstanding event was recorded in Tuesday Afternoon Club history today, when the first meeting of any kind was held in the new club house, almost completed, at the northeast corner of Central avenue and Lexington drive.

It was the regular meeting of the executive board of the club, with Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, presiding.

The first meeting of the club in the new building will be the evening of March 13, when members' husbands and escorts will be special guests. "Women of History" will be the entertainment feature presented by members of the club drama and music sections.

Following this meeting the club officers are planning to hold open house for members' families and friends.

DRY AGENT SHOT BY UNKNOWN FOE

Activities as Prohibition Detective Led to Killing Is Police Theory

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19. — Carl Metta, former federal prohibition agent, was shot to death at the door of his home this morning.

Metta answered the door bell and was shot three times after a brief conversation with his assailant, dying almost instantly.

Police believe he was killed as a result of his activities as a prohibition agent.

Pythians to Celebrate Fifty-ninth Birthday

Knights of Pythias tomorrow night will hold open house at their Castle Hall at 103 West Park avenue in honor of the lodge's fifty-ninth anniversary.

A feature of the evening will be the presentation of the flag which will be escorted by a detail of Boy Scouts. Following the salute, all present will join in singing "America."

J. W. Aiton of Van Nuys, past chancellor commander of the state of Kansas, will make a short speech on "Our Pythian Anniversary."

Other brief speeches will be made by Chancellor Commander E. S. Melzer, Rev. Harley G. Preston, Mrs. S. V. Jolliffe, J. W. Pollard and Chalmer Day.

A musical program will be followed by dancing, card playing and a general good time.

LLOYD GEORGE ATTACKS

CORNER OF LOUISE AND WILSON IS SITE SELECTED FOR NEW HOME

Present Structure Will Be Used for Sunday School; Prepare for Drive

ERECTION of a $100,000 church edifice at the corner of Louise street and Wilson avenue this year is planned by the First Baptist congregation, following a discussion of architect's drawing at the mid-week service last Wednesday night.

The entire matter now is in the hands of an advisory committee which has made the following recommendations, according to the church bulletin:

First—That the board of trustees be authorized to enter into negotiations leading to the purchase of the house and lot immediately adjoining the present church property to the north.

Second—That the church enter into a campaign on or about April 1 to raise funds for the purpose oc acquiring this property.

Third—That the church enter into negotiations with Dr. F. H. Divine to assist in raising this money.

Fourth—That a building committee, consisting of twenty-five members be appointed and that said committee select five of its members, to be known as the building finance committee, including a chairman, clerk and treasurer of the building fund. Also that this building committee shall select five of its members to be known as the executive committee of the building committee.

Plans Being Prepared

It is understood that the property in question has been acquired. The work of the drive may now go forward apace, according to church officials.

Plans prepared by the architectural department of the R. L. Kent company, 130 South Brand boulevard, call for a new church building along modified Gothic lines to rise on the corner of Louise and Wilson, adjoining the present structure which will be exclusively devoted to Sunday school purposes.

The new edifice will have an auditorium and balcony seating capacity of approximately 1000 people, with a banquet hall and parlors in the basement below the auditorium.

Rev. Ernest E. Ford is pastor of the First Baptist church, which has shown a steady growth under his leadership. It has been his constant hope to see his flock housed in larger quarters and now his dreams have come to a point of being realized.

REMINGTON DEATH EVIDENCE CONFLICTS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—The coroner's jury in the inquest over the body of Earl Remington today returned a verdict that he "came to his death from gunshot wounds inflicted by a person or persons unknown." Conflicting evidence developed today in the investigation of the murder when detectives checked the story told by Estelle Le Sage, who had admitted, the police say, she was with Remington up to within a few minutes of the time he was shot and stabbed to death on the driveway of his home. Detectives told of having discovered that Remington registered at a downtown hotel about 9 o'clock Thursday night and remained in a room there until approximately 11 o'clock. Miss Le Sage had said she and Remington went to two motion picture shows and were dining during these two hours.

U. S. REPORTS ON RETAIL FOOD PRICES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The retail cost of food for the average family decreased one per cent in January as compared with December, the department of labor announced today. For the year period, January 15, 1922, to January 15, 1923, food prices increased two per cent, while for the ten year period, January 15, 1913, to January 15, 1923, the increase in all articles of food combined was forty-seven per cent.

ACTS ON CHILD LABOR LAW AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The first step to overcome the action of the United States supreme court in declaring child labor laws unconstitutional was taken today by the senate judiciary committee in recommending the passage of an amendment to the constitution legalizing the legislation. The committee voted six to five to report favorably on the proposed amendment. The proposed amendment to the constitution would read: "The congress shall have power, concurrent with that of the several states, to limit or prohibit the labor of persons under the age of 18 years."

others, the line has firmness as well as feeling, and the printing is very expert.

War Experience

Numerous of Mr. Cotton's things reflect his war experience as a member of the Educationial corps of the A. E. F., in charge of a section of the art department of the University of Beaune, in central France, established for the benefit of our American soldiers.

He was lucky enough to be able to obtain the press of the great Lepere, installed it at this university and gathered about him some twenty American boys, the record of whose work is now in Washington.

Mr. Cotton, furthermore, had the rare privilege of being commissioned to make illustrations or the "leave areas" of the A. E. F. in France. In this way he saw the country as few men see it, and was enabled to gather a vast amount of artistic material. He is now giving that material to the public, and the exhibit of his work yesterday afternoon, at La Ramada, was a fair sample of the fine, enduring output that can be expected.

Plan Public Programs

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the Casa Verdugo Park & Art association, states that the John W. Cotton exhibit and lecture is one of a series of similar public art programs that are scheduled for Sunday afternoon at La Ramada this spring and summer.

"We are most anxious that the people of Glendale should feel that this is their opportunity," stated Mrs. Ballagh. "Far more than for the artists, these gatherings on alternate Sunday afternoons are for the people—and for the children, too.

"Speaking of children, we have found they respond so much more readily than adults, that we have established a Junior section of the association, where the boys and girls of Glendale and neighboring sections may come and gather something of this vital force. Twice a year there will be a "Children's Exhibit," where the best work of the coming generation may be seen and compared.

"It is on the children of today that we depend for everything this city and this country will be tomorrow. It is our duty to educate them for lives of greater richness and service than ours."

Arraign Army Doctor For Dancer's Murder

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 19.—Dr. Lewis L. Jacobs, army physician of Camp Kearney, charged with the murder of Fritzie Mann, beautiful dancer, was given a preliminary hearing at 10 o'clock this morning before Superior Judge Spencer Marsh and was remanded to the care of the sheriff without bail.

James Wadham, attorney for the Johns Hopkins graduate, asked for early action and it was expected the case will be set for trial not later than two months hence.

"I plead not guilty as charged," said Dr. Jacobs in a clear and spirited voice when Judge Marsh had completed reading the complaint.

SUNRISE CLUB TO HEAR ADDRESS BY REEVES

Civic, Municipal Affairs Is Subject of Talk by Glendale Manager

The Sunrise Civic club of Eagle Rock will have as special guests at their regular monthly meeting at the East End school Tuesday evening next, the members of the West End Improvement association. An excellent program consisting of short talks and music, both instrumental and vocal will be given.

Capt. W. H. Reeves, city manager of Glendale has consented to speak on civic and municipal affairs. Capt Reeves is credited with being a good speaker as well as a good manager. The members of the Sunrise club are expecting to hear many things of interest as well as to be able to gather some useful information from Mr. Reeves' talk.

Varied Program

The program is as follows: America by the audience: Solo, Samuel A. Ratcliff, accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Rose; solo, Mrs. Mable Runge, accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Rose; guitar and mandolin duet by Fred S. and Howard A. Thompson. A. M. Powell of the Boy Scouts is expected to gave a ten minutes' talk on matters concerning the organization.

While the West End Improvement association will be asked to attend in a body, it does not mean that others are barred from enjoying the program with the Sunrisers, say the members. In fact, they extend a cordial invitation to all. They ask that new residents of the city come out and get acquainted.

JACKSON MISSES SHRINE BANQUET

Texas Nobles Forced to Eat Weird Menu Without Postmaster's Help

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson will miss one big "bull" banquet this week.

It is scheduled for Wednesday night, February 23, at Plainview, Tex. Tamineh Shrine club is the host.

Noble W. Oliver Anderson of the Plainview postal force extended the president of the local Shrine club the invitation.

Following is the clever menu offered as a special inducement for Mr. Jackson's trip to Texas which he must forego:

Fish—Broiled tadpoles in one-piece bathing suit.

Soup—Cream of woofus with green lizards. (They have lots of 'em in Texas.)

Roasts—Baked Buffalo rump, larded with Kosse grease.

Game—Jailbirds, night birds, one-eyed owls.

Relishes—Green novices, fresh novices.

Vegetables—New onions, old bunions, fresh wallions, corn salve.

Pastry — Broiled limburger with frosted I screams.

Assorted cakes — Yeast cakes, cake of soap and cake walk.

Drinks—Appolinaris, Pluto and Tabasco. (They have others that are better and more bitter along the Rio Grande).

It is reported in the Plainview Evening News that a buffalo weighing 689 pounds is being baked, boiled and stewed, the bison coming from the herd on the Goodnight ranch.

Two Candidates Out To Succeed Osborne

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—The race for congress in the ninth congressional district to succeed the late Captain H. Z. Osborne will develop into a hot contest, according to all indications today. To date the avowed candidates are two, H. Z. Osborne, Jr., who resigned last week as chief engineer of the city board of public utilities to succeed his father, at the expressed wish of the latter previous to his death, and Alfred L. Bartlett, former chairman of the Republican county central committee.

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW ATTRACTS BIG CROWDS

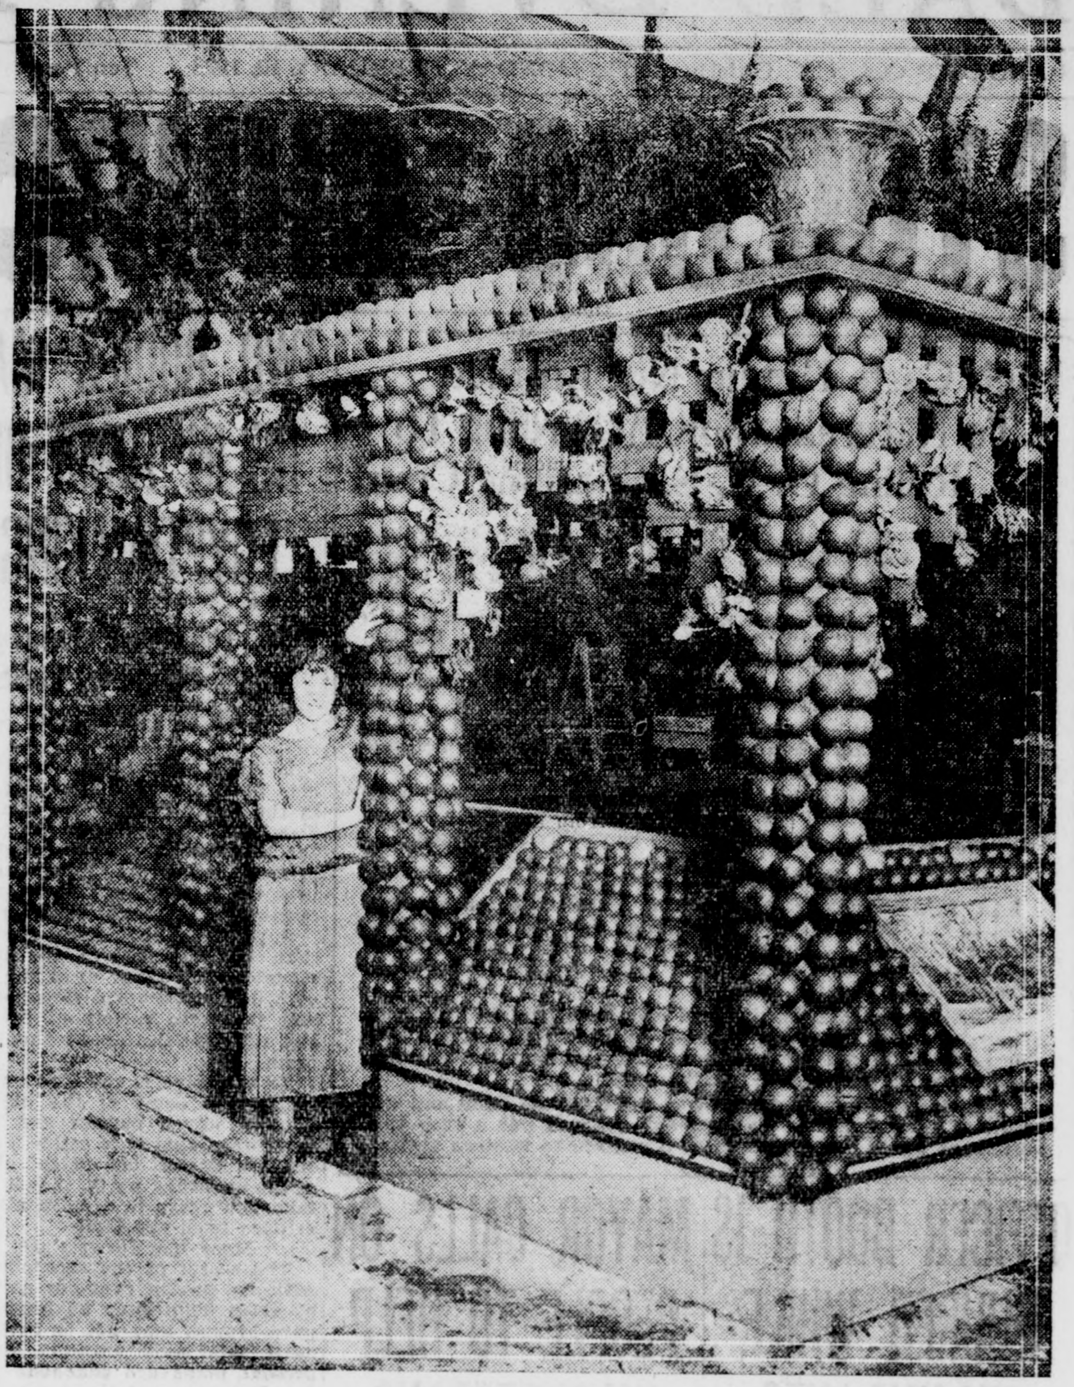
This Year's Display Larger and Finer Than Those Of Former Years



ONE OF FEATURE EXHIBITS AT NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW

The display at San Bernardino this year is better than ever, is the verdict of the thousands of visitors. Sunday being a fine day, all roads led to the "orange city" and the big tents were packed with people. The show continues all this week.

Countless Glendalians journeyed over the eastern highways yesterday to San Bernardino, where the Thirteenth Annual National Orange Show is being held on a vast acreage at the foot of the towering San Bernardino mountains.

This year's show was heralded as larger, finer and more magnificent in every respect than any of its numerous predecessors, and Californians and eastern visitors are joining in the late winter celebration.

The orange show itself is about 30 per cent larger than last year's event, and a much larger space is devoted to the industrial exhibits in adjoining tents.

A record crowd of motorists and street car travelers was entertained in the orange capital yesterday, and larger crowds are anticipated this week.

Civil Suit Is Result of City's Park Purchase

A civil suit questioning the validity of the Glendale city officials' action in the purchase of park and airport property was filed February 17, in the superior court of Los Angeles county by John Everson, member of the firm of Everson & Frazier, for George A. Montgomery, a local property owner.

Spencer Robinson, S. A. Davis, C. E. Kimlin, A. H. Lapham and Dwight Stephenson, members of the city council, and H. C. Saulsberry, city controller, and J. C. Sherer, city treasurer, are named as defendants in the action. Until noon today subpoenas had not been served on those mentioned.

It is stated by Mr. Everson that he represents the annexation group. City Attorney Hartley Shaw and his assistant, Ray Morrow, undoubtedly will defend the purchase of the property as entirely legal and within the purview of the council's authority.

Had Plates in Auto, Used Dealer's License

J. H. Bergey, of Pasadena, said he was not in court to answer a charge of speeding but to explain why he was using a dealer's license on his car when ticketed by Officer McMahon of Eagle Rock on February 7. The officer's charge was thirty-one miles in the fifteen-mile zone.

Mr. Bergey admitted being stopped but said the officer had inquired why he was using a dealer's license. "I explained," said Mr. Bergey, "that my license plates had just arrived and I had not put them on yet. They were in the car at the time." The defendant produced a letter from the Willys-Overland people in Monrovia substantiating his statement.

Judge Cruzan accepted the explanation of Mr. Bergey and ordered the case dismissed.

Poor Reception Given Eagle Rock Newcomer

M. E. Rafelson, who said he had lately moved from Michigan to Eagle Rock and expected to make his home here, was let off in traffic court Saturday with a suspended sentence for speeding and advised to get posted on the California traffic laws at once.

Mr. Rafelson said he had no intention of violating the law but was unfamiliar with the text. He said he moved here in January, bought a home and intended to stay, of course, with the idea of being a law abiding citizen. However, he did not appreciate a reception of this kind. He promised to absorb the contents of the motor vehicle acts, wholly or in part, and with greater speed than he had showed when pinched, if his honor would show leniency in this instance.

Plan War on British Export Tax on Rubber

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—A general conference of American manufacturers, interested in the rubber situation, has been called to meet in Washington, February 27-28, to consider combative measures against the British export restrictions, which have added millions of dollars to the American rubber consumers' bill, it was announced here today.

FREE STATERS WIN

BELFAST, Feb. 19.—The republican irregular forces under General Boffin that have been under attack in the Arigan hills by Free State troops for the past week, are in flight today. The battle lasted nearly seven days.

The GLENDALE

In "The Strangers' Banquet," Marshall Neilan's new Goldwyn feature, the story is told against a background of shipyards and the romance of building those great vessels destined to ply out over the seven seas.

Old Shane Keogh (acted splendidly by Hobart Bosworth) has made a fortune out of his shipyards, and leaves it to his son John (Nigel Barrie) and his daughter Derith (Claire Windsor). At once strangers hoping to banquet on this golden feast begin to gather, and their existence and attitude furnish the theme and scheme of the tale.

John marries one of the "strangers" and his sister Derith nearly follows suit, but is won in the end by a man worthy of her.

The T. D. & L.

"The Hottentot," with Douglas MacLean, produced by Thomas H. Ince from the William Collier stage play of the same name—doesn't that combination mean something to you? The management of the T. D. & L. theatre is confident it does, and states that anyone with a cracked lip had better stay away—as you can't sit through it without honest, hearty and prolonged laughter.

It's funny enough when the decrepit old cab-hack perks up enough to nip at the horse-shy yachtsman; but when Douglas starts off in that astounding steeplechase, on the wild "Hottentot," with no more protection from sudden death than five napkins padded under his jockey-cap—then the whole thing gets so hilarious it becomes a positive menace to the public gravity.

TWO BODIES MAY BE IN TOMB OF EGYPTIAN KING

More Than One Mummy in Inner Chamber, Belief Of Egyptologists

lowed to enter the inner chamber with Lord Carnarvon and Carter on Sunday declared the splendor which greeted their eyes was beyond human imagination.

New School of Art

Mural decorations upon the interior of the chamber and the finely wrought frescoes may disclose a new school of Egyptian art, whose history long ago was lost in the mists of antiquity.

It is impossible to estimate the value of the jewels in modern money. The sum would be fabulous. In history value they possess a worth that is beyond mere monetary consideration.

One thing that struck the onlookers with amazement was the freshness of the colors on the walls and upon the statues. One statue of a cat, with partly opened mouth, looked as though it had been deposited in the tomb but a fortnight ago.

Tut-Ankh-Amen's sarcophagus seems to have been built up in sections and with the most exquisite pains. The luxurious decorations are in contrast with meaner workmanship in the outside chamber.

EARTH'S JUBILEE YEAR IS COMING

Bible Student Asserts 1925 Will See Fulfillment of Prophecies

To an interested audience at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Sunday night, George Ripper, well known Bible scholar, quoted the Bible to show that Earth's Great Jubilee is at hand. He based his remarks on Leviticus 25:10—"Proclaim liberty through out all the land and unto all the inhabitants thereof. It is a Jubilee unto you—" He said in part:

"It is only when we recognize the typical character of God's dealings with the nation of Israel that we can rightly understand why their history, in preference to that of all other nations, is so particularly recorded by the prophets. In the nation of Israel God has given striking illustrations of His great plans for the world.

"Every fiftieth year, counting from the time of their entrance into Canaan (year 1575 B. C., Leviticus 25:1-12) was to Israel a year of Jubilee, a time of rejoicing and restitution, in which broken families were reunited and lost homesteads restored. This Jubilee year was a type. It was intended to foreshadow the great Restitution, the recovery of mankind from the fall, the re-uniting of families separated by death, the restoration and perfection of the earth for man's everlasting home, the giving of happiness and granting of life eternal to all the families of the earth, to be accomplished in the millennial age. No wonder it was called a Jubilee.

God's Kingdom Near

"The world now is passing through a "Great time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation". It is the Lord's way of cleaning the earth, of destroying institutions and organizations that oppose or otherwise obstruct the full establishment of His kingdom—Earth's Great Jubliee. The Scriptures clearly show that this great kingdom, this time of peace, of happiness, of prosperity, of life will immediately follow the present trouble.

"The exact time for the beginning of this Great Jubilee is marvelously shown in the picture. Many Scriptures show that there were to be seventy Jubilees kept, (Jeremiah 25:11) A simple calculation of these jubilees brings us to this important fact: Seventy Jubilees of fifty years each would be a total of 3500 years. That period of time beginning 1575 before A. D. 1 of necessity would end in the fall of the year 1925, at which time the type ends and the great antitype must begin. What then should we expect to take place? In the type there must be a full restoration, therefore the great antitype must mark the beginning of restoration of all things. The chief thing to be restored is the human race to life. Since other Scriptures definitely fix the fact that there will be a resurrection of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and other faithful ones of old, and that these will have the first favor, we may expect 1925 to witness the beginning of the return of these faithful men of Israel from the condition of death, being resurrected and fully restored to perfect humanity and made the visible, legal representatives of the new order of things on earth.

Micah's Prophecy

"Messiah's kingdom once established, Jesus and his glorified church constituting the great Messiah, shall minister the blessings to the people they have so long desired and hoped for and prayed might come. And when that time comes, there will be peace and not war, as the prophet beautifully states: "In the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow into it. And many nations shall come, and say, Come and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths; for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid, for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it."—Micah 4:1-4."

Next Sunday evening in the same hall, James Cullen Watt of Toronto, Canada, will speak. His subject is "The Government of Earth's New Kingdom". This lecture, as former ones, will be entirely free and no collection will be taken.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Among Others, Husbands Collecting Our Debts Legislators' Prerogative Glendale, As It Was

By Gil A. Cowan

"MY HUSBAND, Some of His Virtues and His Faults." What a perfectly wonderful subject for a pastor to select for a Sunday evening discourse.

From women members of his congregation the Rev. Clifford A. Cole drew forth the secrets of home life such as are seldom displayed except in the divorce courts.

But this was an entirely different manner of putting up a package of information and we don't know but what it would provide discourse for a dozen sermons, each better than the one preceding.

A rather talkative business woman told me one day, "George and I have been married for twelve years now—and we have grown to understand each other so much better. Really, our married life gets happier year by year."

That sounded very interesting for George was a broken down accountant who was trying to make a stake out of an ice cream parlor. Yet it wouldn't surprise me to hear of him dying wealthy, because his wife had grown to understand him and train his thoughts along those lines which are most productive.

An elderly cynic, who has had his marital bark wrecked several times, said to me in all earnestness, "A woman can make or break a man unless he breaks away in time." Maybe so, but one of his former wives has made another a man of affairs. All of which goes to prove some people make bad breaks and don't know it.

This, however, is beside the subject of the virtues and faults of husbands as depicted through the medium of the preacher from the pulpit. Speaking from a husband's standpoint he is able to bear with his brethern, yet at the same time tell them what their wives admire and why. At the same time he can reveal what women patiently despise, yet never broach the subject.

J. P. Morgan & Co. will act as paymasters for the British government in settling the debt with the United States, it is reported. This same firm financed many of Britain's loans, it was reported, during the war. It is good New York and the United States boast a banking house sufficiently pleasing to his nibs, The Lion, that such a trivial matter can be negotiated in America.

At the same time the question arises if it is not this banking firm that fills the editorial wastebaskets with bushels of propaganda on the subject of debt settlement under such subtle titles as the Association for the Betterment of American Business or the like. Certainly, these associations are not working for the interests of you and me when we walk up and pay our income taxes, by gosh.

It may be provincial for some of us westerners not to want to join a league of nations, but collection agencies and the like never did have a great deal of appeal to our sensitive ears. And that's that.

According to current reports $80,000 has been recovered among other loot and identified as coming from the Denver Mint raid. To us that $80,000 brings more cheer than the French declaration it is too poor to settle with our Uncle Samuel and on the same instant turning a palm full of gold pieces over to Poland for its work in entertaining the Germans.

As collectors the people of the United States might do well to go over to France and pluck a few souvenirs before they are all gone.

Something should be done with the ship subsidy bill by congress at once. Otherwise, we will favor subsidizing the whole darned outfit to get something else done. Too bad President Harding doesn't hire a hardboiled city editor to tell that gang of school boys imitating a debating society that it's just about edition time and they got to get busy.

You know legislators take an awful lot of license—if you will excuse our perfectly rotten English—with hours and days and weeks and months of useless talk. It seems to be their prerogative.

There was a time in Glendale, not more than five years past, when it would take weeks to collect a coterie of headlines like the following found in Saturday's edition of The Glendale Evening News:

"Masons plan to erect five story building."

"Scores of women tell secrets on friend husband."

"Policeman's car taken by thief."

(The writer remembers the day when the policeman didn't have a car to take or be took).

"Collie watches over lost babe,"

"Strong current shocks driller."

"Local Legion plans home on hillside site."

(There wasn't any Legion in those days)

Believe me, the world do move. And Rip Van Winkle would never negotiate Brand boulevard and Broadway on a Saturday afternoon nowadays.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHY SO SILLY?

Why are people so foolish about making their wills?

If death were a thing that just happened to a few people and that one might escape altogether if one were lucky, even then it seems as if people would prepare for that danger by planning to have the property they have worked so hard to get together go to those whom they love best and who need it most.

But as it is,—well, it seems almost inconceivable that we should be so careless about a matter that vitally concerns those we love. Picture to yourself your wife sick and lacking money for comforts and someone you care nothing about endowed with a few thousands just because you left it to the law to dispose of your property instead of spending a few minutes attending to that matter yourself. Doesn't it make you wild to think of all the labor and self-denial by which you amassed that money ending that way?

Do It Now

"It's enough to make So-and-So turn over in his grave," I have heard people say of a man to whom such a thing has happened. How much wiser to bestir oneself a little in the present instead of turning over in one's grave — which must be difficult to manage and of no help to anyone.

A man I know died last year. He had always been going to make a will, but he never had. He was well to do, he had a beloved nephew (by marriage) who had been almost like a son to him, to whom he wished to leave something. The rest he meant to leave to his greatly loved wife so that she could live in the same comfort in which he had kept her. He never thought of any other disposition of his property. But, alas, he did nothing but think. He was taken suddenly ill and died of pneumonia, without time to make a will. The law in the state where he lived provided that when a man died childless, $5,000 and half his property should go to his wife, and the rest to his next of kin. The next of kin were several cousins, some of whom he cordially detested. Neverthlss, they got several thousand, his wife was left with about half what he meant her to have and the nephew, whom he had loved next to his wife, got nothing.

What Carelessness Cost

In another case a laboring man, by working overtime and scrimping and saving to provide for his old age, had amassed the money to buy several pieces of real estate which he placed in his wife's name. But he did not have his wife make a will. When she died he suddenly discovered that if she had any relatives half of the value of that property, over $2,000, would go to them. He went to the probate court and swore that she had no next of kin that he knew of. She had once had cousins in Pennsylvania, he said, but they were dead. Unfortunately, for the man, they were not dead and proved it by appearing and getting him indicted for perjury. He was convicted, served six months and paid over to them their legal share of the property. One sympathizes with the man's state of mind, though not his act, for ethically that property should have gone to him and one can see how he must have justified himself in his mind.

It Won't

But the law cannot make exceptions for such cases. That wouldn't be possible.

And the only way to safeguard oneself is to comply with the simple necessary regulations. If you can afford a lawyer go to one. If you can't, write out a simple statement of what you want done with your property, sign it and get it witnessed according to the regulations in your state.

And don't have that silly superstition that making a will is going to hasten your death. It won't any more than buying a baby carriage would bring a baby into the family, or failing to make provision for one would keep a baby away if it had decided to come.

Old-Time Rice Cakes—Measure out one cup of brown (uncoated) rice and turn into one quart of sweet milk with a pinch of salt; cook until the liquid is absorbed and the rice tender, adding more milk if necessary. To the hot cooked rice add two tablespoons of butter, one-fourth cup of sugar and the grated rind and juice of one-half a lemon. Mix well without mashing the rice-kernels, cool, then form it into cakes. Dip these cakes into flour and fry them on a hot griddle in bacon grease. Serve hot with maple syrup. (Very nourishing and delicious.)

Mexican Veal—Buy from your grocer enough veal, sliced one-fourth inch thick, to serve your family (about one and a half or two pounds?) and dip these veal slices in flour. Fry them in beef drippings till half cooked through, then add to the veal slices, in the frying pan, three-quarters of a cup of minced cooked ham (left-overs of sliced broiled ham will do if you have them), one-half cup of either chopped chives or chopped raw onion, and salt and pepper to season. Cover the pan and let continue to fry till the meat is done through.

Potato Salad—Boil pared potatoes till tender, then cut them in cubes. Let these cubes stand overnight well moistened with a mixture consisting of two parts of oil to one part of vinegar. Just before serving, on lettuce (if you have it) turn over the potato a cold boiled salad dressing.

Sliced Pork Creole—Buy a two-pound (or smaller) piece of fresh ham cut one-half inch thick. Trim off extra fat, put the ham in a hot frying pan and let it cook ten minutes, till browned. Now add two sliced raw onions, one cup of canned tomato and a shredded green pepper (or canned pimento) and let cook five minutes longer; then add four tablespoons of flour rubbing it into the meat, season with salt and pepper to suit individual liking, cover the pan and let cook 25 minutes. Just before this time is up add two cups of previously boiled, tender spaghetti. Serve on a platter with the spaghetti surrounding the meat.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

WORMS

"How many worms can a person have?" asks one of our readers. I shall answer by a story.

An English Tommy in the trenches calls over to another Tommy, "Oi say, 'ave you any loices?"

"'Oly smokes! Millions of 'em. But what do you want of loices?"

"Oh, I don't mean them kind of loices. I mean shoe loices."

It depends, madam, on what kind of worms you mean. If you mean the ordinary tape worms, the regulation number is one, but they don't object to travelling by twos or threes or fours. If you mean pin or thread worms and some other kinds or round worms, you can have millions of 'em.

I think I have had more requests to write on worms than I have upon any other subject—with, of course, the exception of our reducing subject. This is because worms are not uncommon, especially in children. However they are not nearly so common as the average mother supposes.

I think I'll write a book on worms. It is a most fascinating subject, and one which is always of interest. Worms have always been an affliction for the simple reason that there has been such widespread ignorance as to the cause of them.

Even recently I read an article in the magazine section of a daily paper which stated that worms arose from the putrefaction in the intestines, and that if the diet was right one would not suffer from them, or something to that effect. This is not true. You could be having the most scientific diet imaginable and if it became contaminated with wormworm eggs you would probably entertain some worms for a season.

It has been more than 250 years since scientists abandoned the idea that living organisms could rise spontaneously from non-living matter. But apparently this fact has not reached some people yet.

Worms are not caused by putrefying matter. All living things arise from eggs or seeds. Worms, belonging to the animal kingdom, come from eggs. Therefore, if you or your child has worms you have in some manner eaten or drunk some worm eggs.

I shall have to modify that last statement a little for tape worms. If you have a tape worm it is because you have eaten the flesh of some animal that has eaten the eggs. For there are three stages to the tape worm—the egg stage, the encysted stage and the adult stage. (More on this later.) The ordinary round worms, however, hatch directly from the eggs to the adult worm. In an old book written in 1721 we are told: "Whatever distemper children are troubled with, worms are always to be suspected." I believe that the average mother is still going by that advice.

No matter what symptoms a child develops, there is only one way to know whether it has worms or not and that is to examine the stools (bowel movements) frequently. If it has a tape worm there will be segments from the tape worm. If it has pin worms there will be little worms looking like a third to a half-inch piece of white thread. If they are the round worms you will find worms from five to ten inches long, looking like angle worms, but pointed at each end. These three types of worms are the kind most common in children.

If you cannot find the worms, then an examination of the stools under the microscope will disclose the eggs, probably millions of 'em, if the child has worms.

Tomorrow—Worms No. II.

FRANCE REJECTS AID OF BRITISH

Warn Bonar Law to Refrain From Intervention in Ruhr District

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The French foreign office has instructed Count De Saint Aulaire, the French ambassador to England, to warn Premier A. Bonar Law not to attempt mediation in the Ruhr, the Journal stated. The newspaper, in an article which appeared to be officially inspired, said:

"France has decided to reject any intervention in the Ruhr. The only solution acceptable to France is unqualified capitulation by Germany."

Members of Michigan Association to Picnic

The Michigan Association of Southern California has been holding picnic reunions for more than twenty years. The Wolverines are notified that the annual picnic will be held all day Saturday, March 17, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Every Michigander in all the southland is invited. Dr. M. R. Parmelee, president, will preside and have charge and all the usual picnic features will be carried out. A great, jolly reunion is assured.

FRENCH ENLARGE OCCUPIED ZONES

Advance Outposts 15 Miles Deeper Into Heart of German Territory

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Five regiments of French infantry today left Bochum for Dortmund. It is believed that the French intend to increase their occupation of German soil by advancing from the Dortmund outposts fifteen miles eastwardl to Hamm.

British forces in the Cologne area today surrendered their railway lying between Neuss and Duren to the French.

Intensified activity on the part of French troops was reported from the Ruhr. A dispatch from Dortmund said the advance guard of a great column of French troops had passed through Luttgen-Dortmund (five miles east of Bochum) at 10 o'clock, moving eastward rapidly.

According to the Morgenpost, the French seized 70,000,000 marks at Gelsenkirchen after the municipal aldermen had formally refused to pay the 100,000,000 marks fine imposed upon the town.

From ten to twenty per cent of the value of the annual apple crop of the United States is destroyed by the ravages of insects.

Beauty Chats by Edna Kent Forbes

EXPRESSIVE EYEBROWS

For a long time there has been such a craze for what I have called hair-line eyebrows that many beauty shops have made fortunes catering solely to this fad. It is a mistaken idea that these very thin eyebrows are "expressive." They are not even fashionable in the best sense of that word, because the really fashionable woman never goes in for extremes.

As a matter of fact the rather heavy eyebrow has a great deal more character than the thin. The only danger is that if it is too thick it will lend heaviness rather than character to the expression. So we come again to the great solution—moderation in this, as in most other things in life, is best.

If your eyebrows are too thin or too light in shade use some sort of tonic or ointment on them to encourage a thicker growth or a more decided color. You may even for those occasional times when you must look more than your best, make use of the colored eyebrow pencil, or of an eyelash stain, but this must be carefully done so the artificiality is not suspected.

If the eyebrows are too thick there are two well known remedies, neither of which will take you to an expensive beauty shop. One is to run a brush soaked with mucilage over each eyebrow drawing the hairs together with the finger and letting them dry so. This is mostly for unruly eyebrows and is so effective that sometimes the coarser hairs drop out after a few weeks of this treatment.

The other treatment is to pull out all the hairs that grow too far above or below the eyebrow with a good pair of blunt edged tweezers. A perfectly shaped curve can be obtained this way, while if the skin is touched with peroxide of hydrogen it will discourage a new growth of hair.

Lonesome—Most persons with auburn hair are inclined to a few freckles. This is because both the shade of the hair and the freckles come from the same source—an abundance of iron in the system. However, freckles are rarely disfiguring and they usually accentuate the clearness of the skin.

Lemon juice will bleach them, or I can mail you a formula for a stronger bleach. But nothing will ever take them away permanently because they are natural to your type.

Polychrome—Girls of 15 are rarely evenly developed, so there is no need for you to be anxious about your thin arms and stout body. A few more years will bring all into correct proportions.

Pull out the coarse hairs

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

DEEP, HEALTHY BREATHING DEPENDS ON FREE NERVES

Weekly Health Talk No. 19
(By Drs. Eble & Eble, DS. C.)

To those who have free lungs, who breathe easily and deeply, it seems strange that others may not enjoy the same privilege. Normally healthy lungs will range in capacity from 300 to 400 cubic inches. But lungs of sufferers from bronchitis and its more serious brother, tuberculosis, will show 50 to 60 per cent less capacity than the normal range mentioned above.

Whenever there is pressure on spinal nerves at the spine reducing the life impulses to the lungs and bronchial region, there is a shortening of the breath, a reduced amount of breathing. The natural heat of the body is reduced. Colds, easily caught, are hard to throw off. Eventually there is chronic bronchitis, or tuberculosis, unless the natural resistance and freedom of life impulses to travel the spinal nerve lines is restored by chiropractic vertebral adjustments.

UNCLE BEN SAYS: "The hardest thing to beat in a horse trade, Nevy, is honesty. It is so unexpected."

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED-NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

BRONCHIAL TUBES FILLED, BREATHING WAS DIFFICULT

"My 14-months-old-daughter had never been without a cold. She had difficulty in breathing. Her bronchial tubes would fill and she could not sleep. She was restless and fretful all the time. After a few chiropractic vertebral adjustments, however, the nervousness and crying stopped and she was able to sleep all night. Now the bronchial tubes are cleared, her cough is entirely gone and she has not had any of the cold symptoms from which she always suffered."—Mrs. D. H. McNeill, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1336F.

SANTA RITA WINS PITCHERS' BATTLE

Glendale Indians Lose by Score of 6 to 5 After Terrific Contest

The Glendale Indians lost a hotly contested battle with the Santa Rita nine, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 5.

It was a pitchers' contest from start to finish, between Heidler of the home team and Carrizosa of the opposition.

Heidler allowed but six hits, while Carrizosa doled out eight, but somehow the visiting boys bunched their wallops just a shade better.

Luna and Tony did the best stick work for the winners, while Harris and Harrison found the pill the most times for the losers.

The score:

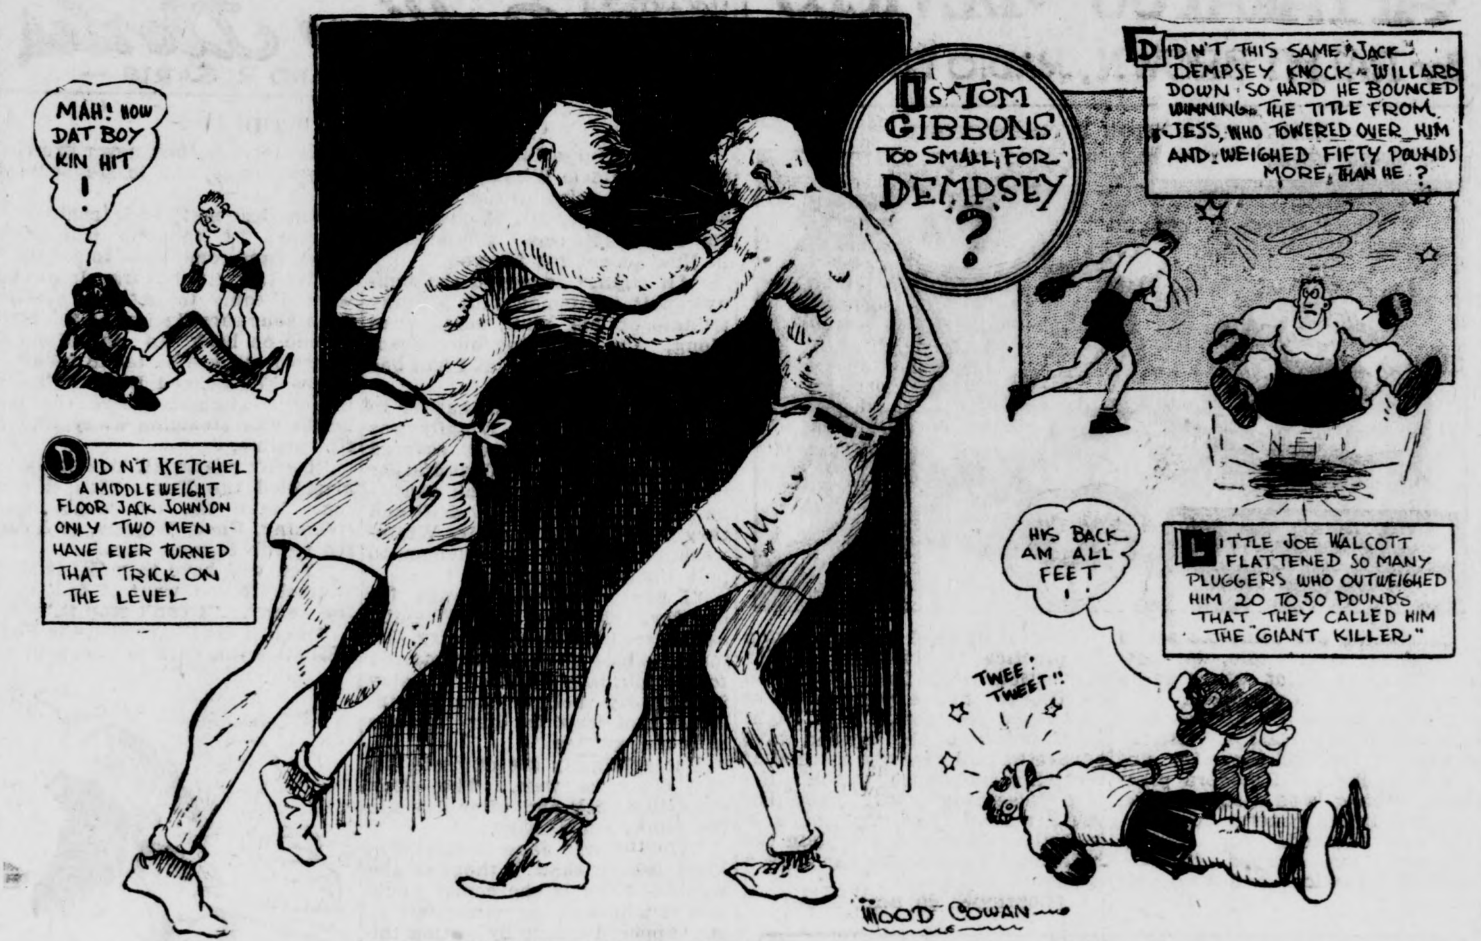
This game, which is scheduled for Wednesday night in the local high school gymnasium, will be hotly contested and should prove worthy of a large turnout.

Little Men With Big Wallops

By Wood Cowan



MAH! HOW DAT BOY KIN HIT !
DID N'T KETCHEL A MIDDLEWEIGHT FLOOR JACK JOHNSON ONLY TWO MEN HAVE EVER TURNED THAT TRICK ON THE LEVEL
IS TOM GIBBONS TOO SMALL FOR DEMPSEY ?
DIDN'T THIS SAME JACK DEMPSEY KNOCK WILLARD DOWN SO HARD HE BOUNCED WINNING THE TITLE FROM JESS, WHO TOWERED OVER HIM AND WEIGHED FIFTY POUNDS MORE THAN HE ?
HIS BACK AM ALL FEET !
LITTLE JOE WALCOTT FLATTENED SO MANY PLUGGERS WHO OUTWEIGHED HIM 20 TO 50 POUNDS THAT THEY CALLED HIM THE "GIANT KILLER"
TWEE! TWEET!!
WOOD COWAN

A big, fast, defensive boxer, with a good left hand, is the fighter that could give Jack Dempsey the most opposition. In a decision fight he might even win on points.

Tom Gibbons is about the only heavyweight who embodies all these requirements, and the argument against Gibbons' ability to cope with the champ is that Tom is too small to even hope for victory.

Is that so!!

Just take a slant at the records and you will find that many a thumper who out-weighed his opponent from ten to fifty pounds, has been sent to the canvas and in many cases K. O.'d by a smaller man.

Joe Walcott, who stood 5 foot 1 inch in height and weighed around 145, used to maul Sandy Ferguson to a standstill, and Sandy was 6 foot 2 on his legs and weighed over 200 on the canvas. Fact is, little Joe flattened so many pluggers who outweighed him ten to sixty pounds that he won the name of "Giant Killer." Then Walcott in turn was defeated by Kid Lavigne, a lightweight.

Look over old Bob Fitzsimmons' list of victories, all of them won from men heavier than himself. Fitz often gave away forty pounds. Peter Maher, Joe Godfrey, Jim Corbett, Gus Ruhlin and Tom Sharkey were all much heavier men than he, but Bob licked every one of them and others not so well known.

There's Joe Choynski, a 165 pounder—Jim Jeffries once said that Joe hit him the hardest blow he ever received in the ring. And it was this same Joe who defeated Jack Johnson and many others who tipped the beam around the 190 mark.

Tom Sharkey at 180 once K. O.'ed Gus Ruhlin, who was a 210 pounder, in one round. And how about Gunboat Smith winning a decision over Jess Willard, and the Gunner was fat at 185!

Sam Langford pasted a K. O. onto "Iron" Hague's record of wins and he was a 159-pound giant and one of the best prospects England had developed in many a day. Sam climbed through the ropes at 175.

Willie Lewis was so ambitious he used to flatten colored heavyweights just to keep in condition, and Willie developed a double chin if he scaled over 160.

If our memory serves us right, Jack Dempsey won the heavyweight crown from a man who towered over him in height and outweighed him fifty-five pounds as so. Many thought Jack was too small.

John L. Sullivan, weighing close to 200, couldn't lick little Charley Mitchell, a pigmie of 158 avoirdupois. That fight went thirty-nine rounds to a draw. Corbett also gave Sullivan twenty or more pounds when he won the crown from him.

And so to say that Tom Gibbons—weighing 178 and a more experienced ring man than Dempsey, even, a more clever boxer with a string of K. O.'s to his credit that only the champion can match among present-day heavies—to say that Tom is too small to tackle a man fifteen pounds heavier is a little of the bunk.

Not for one minute are we convinced that Tom can take Jack's measure, but we do believe that a big clever defensive boxer with a good left hand will give Dempsey an interesting time—and Gibbons is the man who has all these qualifications.

Pacific Coast Teams Start Training Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19. — Pacific Coast league training season opened today.

A squad of thirty-one San Francisco players left here today for Boyes Springs. The number included two former members of the team, William Kamm and Loui Fonseca, who will condition there a few days before joining the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds.

Manager Ivan Howard shepherded the first of the Oakland contingent to their Myrtledale training camp today.

Manager Middleton was due to arrive at Hanford today with the advance guard of the Portland Beavers.

Sacramento will train at home. Seattle will get under steam soon; Salt Lake will soon report at Stockton and Los Angeles and Vernon will get under way at their southern training headquarters.

COLLINS DEAL IS JUST SPLUTTERING

New York Yanks Will Have To Change Plans If They Expect to Get Eddie

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19. — The New York Yanks will have to moderate their demands or loosen the purse strings a trifle more if they wish to do business with Kid Gleason on the subject of Eddie Collins' proposed transfer from Chicago, according to the statement of the Kid himself just before the opening of the American league schedule meeting today.

"The deal, as it lays, is colder than the weather," quoth the Kid. "The Yankees have made us several propositions but none of them have been acceptable to me. They not only want Collins but several other good ball players as well. They want too much for what they are willing to give in return."

Yanks Want Collins

The deal in question has been hanging by a gossamer thread for some months, but it is the prevailing impression that if it is not completed today it will be dropped with definite finality. The Yanks want Collins as a stopgap for a wavering infield with the understanding that he will manage the club just as soon as Miller Huggins will oblige by losing the pennant.

Bib Falk, outfielder, and Leverette and Robertson, young pitchers, have been named at odd moments as being involved with Collins in the early deliberations. In return the Yanks would bid a tearless farewell to Aaron Ward, Bob Meusel and a pitcher, identity unknown.

All Agreed Upon

If the deal is not made, the schedule meeting is likely to be just what its name implies — a bromide. The adoption of the schedule has all the significance of a bill of lading as the opening and closing dates and all such details have been agreed upon months ago.

However, it is possible that another deal or so may be swung, although there is nothing in the pre-meeting gossip to support this belief. The club owners, most of whom arrived early today, seem to have come to the meeting as a formality.

Teacher Urges Plain Garb in School Room

BARNESVILLE, Ohio, Feb. 19. —"Ballroom costumes are not appropriate for the schoolroom," H. H. Murphy, assistant Belmont county school superintendent, told teachers of Warren, Somerset, Kirkwood and Union townships at a district convention here.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—That Holy Cross College at Worcester, Mass., is and always has been the happy hunting ground of major league scouts is the contention of a prominent alumnus of the New England institution, who cites an imposing list of big leaguers, past and present, by way of closing the argument. Offhand, we would say that no argument exists. Knowing nothing definite to the contrary, it is our impression that no college in these United States can compete with Holy Cross in the development of star ball players.

The list as follows, speaks for itself:

Pitchers—Andy Coakley, with the Athletics, Reds and Cubs, 1904-1910; Bill Ryan, with Giants, 1921 to date.

Catchers—The late Doc Powers, with Athletics, 1901-1909, Bill Carrigan, with Red Sox, 1907-1916; Pete Noonan, with Athletics, Cubs and Cards, 1904-1909.

First base—Jack Flynn, with pirates, 1910-1911.

Second base—Tom Stankard, with Pirates, 1904.

Shortstop—Jack Barry, with Athletics and Red Sox, 1908-1917.

Third base—Joe Dugan, with Athletics, Red Sox and Yankees, 1917 to date.

Even this list, however, does not complete the array. There is, for example, Arnold Statz, regular centerfielder of the Chicago Cubs. He might very easily displace either Hoey or Carney, both of whom were merely ball players, never stars. Another entry is "Chick" Gagnon, who will try to break into the Washington infield this season, and a third is Fred Maguire, who may catch on with the Giants, Gagnon is just good enough to cause Clark Griffith to exchange Ray Francis, a promising left hander, for him, and Maguire, according to McGraw, is one of the best looking kid infielders he has seen in several years.

It is quite a ball club, even as it stands. Overlooking the fact that within a year or so it might be imperative to include Gagnon, Maguire and Statz in the lineup, the team shapes up well when compared with other all-star outfits.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

As they emerged from the hut they saw warriors running from every doorway. The old woman stood screaming in Piman at the top of her lungs. Billy, keeping Barbara in front of him that he might shield her body with his own, turned directly out of the village. He did not fire at first, hoping that they might elude detection and thus not draw the fire of the Indians upon them; but he was doomed to disappointment, and they had taken scarcely a dozen steps when a rifle spoke above the noise of human voices and a bullet whizzed past them.

Then Billy replied, and Barbara too, from just behind his shoulder. Together they backed away toward the shadow of the trees beyond the village and as they went they poured shot after shot into the village.

The Indians, but just awakened and still half stupid from sleep did not know but that they were attacked by a vastly superior force, and this fear held them in check for several minutes—long enough for Billy and Barbara to reach the summit of the bluff from which Billy and Eddie had first been fired upon.

Here they were hidden from the view of the Indians, and Billy broke at once into a run, half carrying the girl with a strong arm about her waist.

"If we can reach the foothills," he said, "I think we can dodge 'em, an' by goin' all night we may reach the river and El Orobo by morning. It's a long hike, Barbara, but we gotta make it—we gotta, for if daylight finds us in the Piman country we won't ever make it. Anyway," he concluded optimistically, "it's all down hill."

"We'll make it, Billy," she replied, "if we can get past the sentry."

"What sentry?" asked Billy. "I didn't see no sentry when I come in."

"They keep a sentry way down the trail all night," replied the girl. "In the daytime he is nearer the village—on the top of this bluff, for from nere he can see the whole valley; but at night they station him farther away in a narrow part of the trail."

"It's a mighty good thing you tipped me off," said Billy; "for I'd a-run right into him. I thought they was all behind us now."

After that they went more cautiously, and when they reached the part of the trail where the sentry might be expected to be found, Barbara warned Billy of the fact. Like two thieves they crept along in the shadow of the canyon wall. Inwardly Billy cursed the darkness of the night which hid from view everything more than a few paces from them; yet it may have been this very darkness which saved them, since it hid them as effectually from an enemy as it hid the enemy from them. They had reached the point where Barbara was positive the sentry should be. The girl was clinging tightly to Billy's left arm. He could feel the pressure of her fingers as they sunk into his muscles, sending little tremors and thrills through his giant frame. Even in the face of death Billy Byrne could sense the ecstasies of personal contact with this girl—the only woman he ever had loved or ever would.

And then a black shadow loomed before them, and a rifle flashed in their faces without a word or a sign of warning.

CHAPTER XVII.

"You Are My Girl!"

Mr. Anthony Harding was pacing back and forth the length of the veranda of the ranchhouse at El Orobo waiting for some word of hope from those who had ridden out in search of his daughter, Barbara. Each swirling dust devil that eddied across the dry flat on either side of the river roused hopes within his breast that it might have been stirred into activity by the hoofs of a pony bearing a messenger of good tidings; but always his hopes were dashed for no horseman emerged from the heat haze of the distance where the little dust devils raced playfully among the cacti and the greasewood.

But, at last, in the northwest, a horseman, unheralded by gyrating dust column, came into sight. Mr. Harding shook his head sorrowfully. It had not been from this direction that he had expected word of Barbara, yet he kept his eyes fastened upon the rider until the latter reined in at the ranchyard and loped a tired and sweating pony to the foot of the veranda steps. Then Mr. Harding saw who the newcomer was.

"Bridge!" he exclaimed. "What brings you back here? Don't you know that you endanger us as well as yourself by being seen here? General Villa will think we have been harboring you?"

Bridge swung from the saddle and ran up onto the veranda. He paid not the slightest attention to Anthony Harding's protest.

"How many men you got here that you can depend on?" he asked.

"None," replied the easterner. "What do you mean?"

"None!" cried Bridge, incredulity and hopelessness showing upon his countenance. "Isn't there a Chinaman and a couple of faithful Mexicans?"

"Oh, yes, of course," assented Mr. Harding; "but what are you driving at?"

"Pesita is on his way here to clean up El Orobo. He can't be very far behind me. Call the men you got, and we'll get together all the guns and ammunition on the ranch, and barricade the ranchhouse. We may be able to stand 'em off. Have you heard anything of Miss Barbara?"

Anthony Harding shook his head sadly.

"Then we'll have to stay right here and do the best we can," said Bridge. "I was thinking we might make a run for it if Miss Barbara was here; but as she's not we must wait for those who went out after her."

Mr. Harding summoned the two Mexicans while Bridge ran to the cookhouse and ordered the Chinaman to the ranchhouse. Then the erstwhile bookkeeper ransacked the bunkhouse for arms and ammunition. What little he found he carried to the ranchhouse, and with the help of the others barricaded the doors and windows of the first floor.

"We'll have to make our fight from the upper windows," he explained he to the ranch owner. "If Pesita doesn't bring too large a force we may be able to stand them off until you can get help from Cuivaca. Call up there now and see if you can get Villa to send help—he ought to protect you from Pesita. I understand that there is no love lost between the two."

Anthony Harding went at once to the telephone and rang for the central at Cuivaca.

"Tell it to the operator," shouted Bridge who stood peering through an opening in the barricade before a front window; "they are coming now, and the chances are that the first thing they'll do is cut the telephone wires."

The easterner poured his story and appeal for help into the ears of the girl at the other end of the line, and then for a few moments there was silence in the room as he listened to her reply.

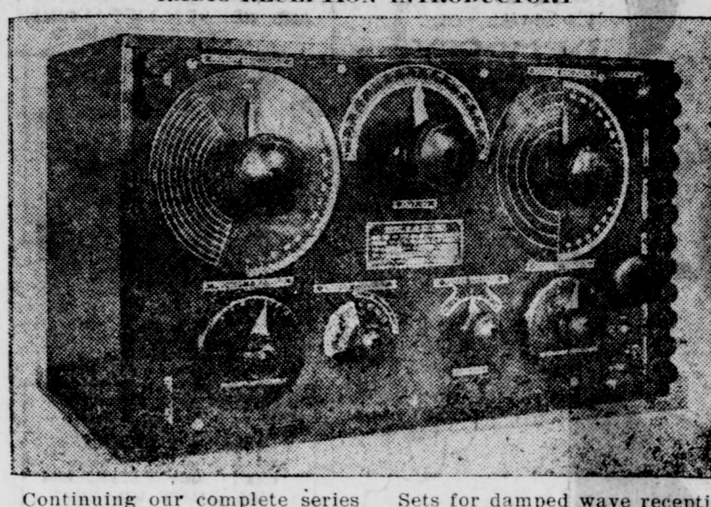
RADIO RECEPTION INTRODUCTORY



Continuing our complete series of articles upon radio, we now arrive at the point where radio receptions can be discussed.

Receiving sets are divided into two well defined classes, those for damped waves, and those for undamped waves. In modern practice a receiver is so designed that, included in its general construction are methods for rapidly changing from damped to undamped receptions and vice versa.

Sets for damped wave reception in practice involve the simpler connections and form a good starting point for any discussion of undamped receivers. Very slight modifications of the damped wave apparatus will give one method of receiving undamped waves. Before proceeding with a discussion of the various receiving circuits, it is well to digress and explain the individual units which comprise a receiving equipment.

A GOOD TWO-STEP AMPLIFIER

This particular two-step audio frequency amplifier represents the conventional unit. It has the added feature, however, of a single control switch for both the filament and plate circuits. By means of this switch, so constructed as to have high insulation resistance and low electrostatic capacitance, the connections may be shifted so that the amplifier is entirely cut out, one stage only used, or both stages connected. This switch provides positive control including the tube filament circuits; thus, when the switch is set on detector, no tubes are burning and when set for one stage, only one amplifier tube is burning. Complete control from the detector to two stages of amplification is thus provided without the necessity of changing a single connection.

All of these parts used in this amplifier are of standard high quality parts. The panel is removable so that the wiring and separate units may be readily examined. The cover of the cabinet is hinged and has mounted on the inside a wiring diagram of the unit. The filament rheostat is adapted for either a four or six volt battery.

The cabinet is of polished oak fitted with projecting engraved bakelite panel. The metal parts are of brass, finished in polished nickel. The unit is complete except for a storage battery. A compartment, holding one 22-volt standard Navy type battery or five 22-volt small Signal Corps type batteries, is provided for the plate battery.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—James S. Sheehy gives a historic sketch of Astoria, Oregon, recently razed by a devastating fire, and about which once raged a controversy between the United States and Great Britain.

TOMORROW—War is being waged against the Demon Noise, destroyer of nerves and digestive apparatus, in Chicago, writes Roland Krebs.

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
For International News Service

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 19.—Memories of 1792—when the first American visited Astoria, Oregon—are recalled when one views the tumbled, blackened ruins of that fire-swept city by the sea.

For historians and those who remember the early settlement days of the Northwest have of late reviewed how the town rose to distinction when it was the center of a quarrel between the United States and Great Britain. Captain Robert Gray, of Boston, visited the Columbia River in 1792 in his ship, Columbia, and passed Astoria in 1805.

The expedition won the friendship of the Indians, which later proved a valuable asset to the American expedition sent out by John Jacob Astor. This expedition was organized at the request of President Jefferson to found a trading post. Astor supplied $400,000 for the expedition, which left New York September 8, 1810.

Six other men accompanied Astor as chiefs of the expedition. They arrived off the Columbia river on March 22, 1811. A site was selected and the town was named after Astor.

Meanwhile the Hudson Bay Company and two or three others cast covetous eyes at Astoria. Perfidy on the part of Astor's companions resulted in its sale to the British firm known as the Pacific Fur Company in 1813.

Hauling down the American Jack and replacing it with the Union Jack is dated October 6, 1813, by various historians. America at the time was engrossed in the War of 1812 with Great Britain. America informed England in 1815 that the claim of the United States to Astoria should be confirmed. The British claimed the post had been sold outright and had not been seized as a result of the war. The American answer was the organization of a naval squadron consisting of three ships.

The Chinook Indians decided they would support the Americans against the British. The expedition sailed in 1817, but before its arrival the British had ceded the point. On arrival the squadron found the Stars and Stripes floating above the town.

From that time to this Astoria has thrived and has been a center of salmon fishing, lumbering and shipbuilding on the lower Columbia river. Now the city is in ruins as a result of the conflagration which swept the business area in December of last year. A desolate picture it is to the stranger. Buildings charred—the town levelled in twisted beams and blackened embers. While Congress and the State Legislature debate advisability of advancing funds for rehabilitation of streets, sewers and water mains the town eagerly awaits, hopeful it may be reborn and regenerated.

Eastern Papers Tell Of Glendale's Float

The Fowler (Ind.) Review devotes a quarter of a column of pure reading matter in a recent issue to the Glendale floral peacock float which appeared in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, according to J. R. Turner of 132 South Jackson street, who sent the editor a copy of The Glendale Evening News and other picture proof of this city's prowess.

The Fulton (Ill.) Journal, also gave several paragraphs of publicity as did hundreds of other local papers throughout the east and middle west where cold weather keeps all flowers from blooming during winter months.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FOX

One day Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said to Uncle Wiggily:

"I'm just going to run over and see Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig for a few minutes. I'll be back in time to get tea for you."

"All right," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman with a funny twinkle of his pink nose, "run along. I'm not going out adventuring this afternoon, as I had one this morning."

And so he had. For earlier in the day when Uncle Wiggily was hopping across the snow covered field to see his friend Grandfather Goosey Gander, the rabbit gentleman got stuck in a snow drift and they had to send for Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman, to pull Uncle Wiggily out.

"I had adventures enough for one day," chuckled Uncle Wiggily, as Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, started for the pig lady's house. "I'll stay in my cozy hollow stump bungalow and wait for her to come back and get tea."

Uncle Wiggily sat down in his easy chair to wait. The clock went tick tock and after a while the bunny rabbit said:

"Well, Nurse Jane is staying a little longer than I thought she would. Even if she comes home now it will take her some time to get supper. I'll help by setting the table."

So Uncle Wiggily began putting the plates, knives and forks and cups and saucers on the table. Then he sat down in his easy chair again to wait and the clock went tick tock.

Pretty soon, after a while, not so very long, the bunny rabbit said to himself:

"Well, Nurse Jane is staying much longer than I thought she would. Even if she comes now she will be late with tea unless I help some more. I'll put the kettle on the stove to boil, so she can wet the tea as soon as she gets in."

So Uncle Wiggily put the kettle full of water on the stove and then he took the cork out of a bottle of maple syrup for Nurse Jane had told him he was to have carrot pudding with maple syrup on that evening, and he wanted to get ready for it.

Again Uncle Wiggily sat down in his easy chair by the stove and the clock went tock tick. Then steam began to come out of the spout of the tea kettle and Uncle Wiggily heard some one at the door.

"There's Nurse Jane now, he thought, "and the kettle is all boiling to make tea. I guess she'll be glad I did it."

Uncle Wiggily went to the door to let his muskrat lady housekeeper in as he thought.

"You're a bit late," he said.

"Better late than never growled a harsh voice, and in stepped the Fox.

"Oh, dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I thought you were Nurse Jane come back to get tea."

"Well, I'm not Nurse Jane and what I came to get are nibbles from your ears!" snapped the Fox. "Come on back to the kitchen, where I can see better to nibble."

The Fox pushed Uncle Wiggily into the kitchen, where the tea kettle was steaming away like a fire engine.

"I can't see in all this steam!" grumbled the Fox. "It's like a fog. Make the tea kettle stop steaming, Uncle Wiggily, so I can see to nibble your ears.'

"You will have to make it stop yourself if you want it to," said the bunny. "I can't stop it."

"Well, I can!" growled the Fox. "I'll stick this cork in the spout of the kettle and that will stop the steam coming out until I can see to nibble your ears."

Out popped the cork.

The Fox picked up the cork from the maple syrup bottle and stuck the cork in the kettle spout. But, no sooner had he done this than the steam popped the cork out again. Out popped the cork, very hard, and it hit the Fox on the end of his nose, ker-bunke—ker-bimpo! "Oh, wow!" howled the Fox. "I'm shot!" and away he ran, not stopping to take a single nibble.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It's a good thing I put the kettle on to make tea." And then Nurse Jane came home and she, too, laughed when the bunny told her about the Fox and the cork.

So everything ended happily, you see, and if the chocolate cake doesn't slide down the bread tray to get away from the carving knife when they're playing tag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dust mop.

They Say That

Tut-Ank-Amen, one of the Pharaohs, who ruled Egypt in the year 1350 B. C., in the latter part of the Eighteenth Dynasty, is telling the world today—3273 years after his death—the bona fide story of his luxurious reign.

Excavations that are being made at Luxor, in the Valley of Kings, are revealing as facts, stories that were once regarded as traditional and legendary. The narratives of fabulous wealth that have been related of the Eighteenth Dynasty are being verified by an English expedition, while thousands of tourists, adventurers and greedy natives are being attracted by the sensational exploit.

The extent to which art was developed, over three thousand years ago, is amazing even the most learned historians, as evidenced by the wonderful pottery vases, cat's head of solid gold and rare design, and similar articles that have been brought from the ancient tomb.

Strikingly sensational are the flowers of the funeral wreath that decked the monarch's brow, carefully exposed to the Egyptian air for the first time in thirty centuries, little faded and splendidly preserved.

Eager and impatient, as they stand in the broiling sun, tourists and scientists are awaiting the bringing out of the war chariots of the Pharaohs and the magnificent coaches, upon which Tut-Ank-Amen banqueted the brave men and beautiful women of that far off but so well preserved period of ancient history.

Shocking crimes by young persons in this state and startling delinquencies of boys and girls of tender years, should arouse the educational forces of the commonwealth to the vital importance of giving systematic instruction in moral principles. A certain period should be set aside in the schools for teaching in fundamental morality. Children should have morality stressed in their relations with each other during school hours, and in their conduct toward all with whom they come into contact.

Attention should be given also to stirring up parents to the supreme importance of training their children against crime and vice. Besides giving them wholesome home influence and guarding them against evil companionship, bad literature and suggestive motion pictures, parents should cooperate with school authorities and religious organizations in providing striking lectures and moving pictures to inculcate moral lessons. There should be thoroughgoing cooperation among all the forces of good in home, and church, and school, and clean interests of all kinds, to promote healthful, virile moral sentiment among the young. It is by this method that the moral salvation of the nation would be assured.

The newspaper press serves the people on a prodigious scale in many ways. But, consider, for a moment, just one service that newspapers render—that is, dissemination of news, swiftly and accurately gathered from all parts of the world. Evolution of news-gathering and lightning-like distribution is one of the marvels of this generation. For this generation has witnessed the development of world-wide news-gathering.

Compare the newspapers which are beside the breakfast and dinner table of President Harding today with the newspapers which President Lincoln read, morning and evening. Then there was no world-wide telegraphic news service. Today news is gathered from the remotest corners of the earth and is served to readers with the speed of lightning. When one reads the New York Herald, and the Tribune of Civil war days and compares their news service with the service given by American newspapers during the world war, one marvels at the phenomenal strides in journalistic enterprise and facilities.

The public depends, more than many persons realize, upon the newspaper press almost wholly for knowledge of current events and for intelligent comprehension of what is transpiring throughout the world, and what the conditions and prospects are everywhere—politically, economically, socially, and in every phase of human activity and interest. The responsible newspaper press faithfully mirrors the world day by day.

Extend Amnesty Term To Irish Irregulars

DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—There was a brief extension today of the period of amnesty granted by the Free State government to the republican irregulars who surrendered their arms. It was first reported that the prolongation extended only to County Kerry, but later it was understood that wider areas were covered. The original date for expiration of amnesty was Sunday.

Police Warn Autoists Of Thieves' Methods

Don't park your Ford alongside of another Ford if you can avoid it, is the warning issued to motorists by the Glendale police department, as one of the most successful methods of automobile stealing is for the thief to park next to a car of the same make, then drive off in the other car instead of his own, later to return and take home his own vehicle.

Community Players to Rehearse Musical Show

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the East Broadway school auditorium, the Glendale Community Players will start work on the "Fun Revue," a musical comedy in three parts. Not until the comedy is a finished piece of work will it be presented, for the director, Nanno Woods, says she will not tolerate any "thrown-together" production.

General rehearsals for entire cast of "Fun Revue" will be held every Monday night at 7:30 o'clock on the school auditorium stage.

Special rehearsals for training in singing and dancing numbers will be held at the home of the director, 122 West Milford street every Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Active and non-active membership cards may be obtained from the secretary, Dorothy Morton, the treasurer, L. Bradley, or the director.

Mrs. E. T. Holmes of 510 West Oak street, who was removed to the Thornycroft hospital over a week ago, is improving nicely and will be able to have visitors in about a week.

Miss Jane Fritch, Neil Schuler and Everett Smits were the guests of Miss Frances Wyman of 1326 North Maryland avenue Saturday night, February 17, at the Jonathan club dinner-dance, Los Angeles.

Edgar Wolbach of East Orange Grove avenue, is convalescing from a serious attack of influenza. He expects to be able to return to his studies at the high school by the first of next week if no further complications occur.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Fulmer, who have been visiting Mrs. Fulmer's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wright, of 141 North Louise street, are now at Grand Canyon, Colo., seeing a few of the sights before returning to their home in South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Dorothy Van Horn of West Lexington drive left Friday night for Austin, Texas, where she will visit during the next three or four weeks at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Denton. Before returning home Mrs Van Horn will spend several days with relatives in Phoenix, Arizona.

Miss Mary Blackburn of San Bernardino was the week-end guest of her brother, R. A. Blackburn, and family, of 331 El Bonita street. Miss Blackburn is teaching in the art department of the junior high school of San Bernardino. Since leaving Glendale four years ago, she has been teaching, until recently, in Nebraska.

Non-Section Meet

The enthusiasm of Tuesday Afternoon club women about their new club home never wanes and this is perhaps the real secret of the splendid response they receive whenever they announce any kind of benefit affair. Through their own loyalty they have succeeded in creating a feeling of community pride in the new club house that makes the club affairs keenly anticipated.

A recent development in club activities is the organization of the non-section members for holding a benefit card party March 17 and for staging a "Carnival of Months" in May, both in the new club house.

The non-section members have been organized by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the ways and means committee of the club, and the second meeting of these women at the Montgomery home at 415 South Central avenue, will be held Friday afternoon of this week.

Tentative plans for the card party March 17, are for games of bridge, five-hundred and bunko.

A unique entertainment is promised in "The Carnival of Months." There is to be a booth for each month in the year and the decorations and costuming of the attendants at each booth will be carried out in keeping with the spirit of the month.

Chairmen of the months will be: January, Mrs. Horace Moore; February, Mrs. C. F. Parker; March, Mrs. C. T. Jones; April, Mrs. H. F. McCormack; May, Mrs. Thomas G. Widmeyre; June, Mrs. S. M. Coulter, July, Mrs. W. E. Pelley. August, Mrs. J. H. Toal, September, Mrs. J. H. Searles; October, Mrs. F. M. Peckham; November, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt; December, Mrs. F. H. Evarts.

Meet on Friday

In order that she may accommodate a large company of guests, Mrs. Virginia Freeman, who is to be hostess Friday afternoon of this week to members and guests of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, is to entertain in the Casa Verdugo Methodist church instead of at her studio.

At the last meeting of the section it was decided that any club women desiring to attend the section meetings could do so upon paying a small fee. This money is to be added to the fund for the grand piano for the new club house.

Those planning to attend the meeting Friday have been asked to call Mrs. Freeman at Glendale 2682.

The program will be on "Sacred Music" and Mrs. John W. Cotton will be in charge.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Engagement Told

An engagement that featured the Valentime time is that of Miss Elaine Hudson to Allan MacKenzie, made known Saturday afternoon at an informal affair given by Miss Hudson's mother, Mrs. A. L. Hudson at their home at 528 North Jackson street. Both young people are Glendale residents and their marriage is to take place March 24.

In pleasing harmony with the California winter sunshine, the house wos decorated with red sweetpeas, carnations, smilax and fern. A Valentine motif was carried out in decorations and favors.

The announcement was made between a game of bunko and the serving of lunch. Just preceding the lunch, Miss Lottie Hudson, younger daughter of the hostess, entered the room dressed as "Miss Valentine," carrying a heart-shaped basket on her arm. She distributed among the guests tiny be-ribboned hearts in which was concealed the engagement news and wedding date.

Mrs. Hudson was assisted by her sister, Mrs. H. T. Scott, now visiting in Glendale from Portland, Ore.

Those received at the Hudson home were Mesdames Alec MacKenzie, Marshall Pearson, B. W. Sherwood, John MacKenzie, Jack Jenkins, Gerald MacKenzie, Merritt Adams, Alfred Schoof, Jack MacKenzie, Elizabeth Harris, and the Misses Pearl Pollock, Dorothy Haig, Evelyn Williams, Grace Howard, Eva Gosden, Dorothy Gosden, Muriel MacKenzie, Esther Pollock, Jane Snyder, Harriet Barnes, Helen Vredenburg, Edith Hagman, Emma Sebastian, Mildred Cole.

Enjoyable Affair

The benefit dance held Saturday night at the Pearl Keller dancing studio 109-A North Brand boulevard, under the auspices of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was a very enjoyable affair, in spite of the fact that scarcely over thirty-five couples were on the floor.

The music was furnished by the Marion Jones five-piece orchestra.

Mrs. Walter W. Jones, curator of the section, and Mrs. Thomas H. Hudson, chairman of the ways and means of the section, had charge of the dance, assisted by the following section members as hostess: Mesdames E. C. Batz, F. S. Card, C. Cable, H. D. Lockwood, H. C. Vandewater, H. W. Ralston, Marion Young, J. E. Lyon, William Hunter, W. E. Halstead, R. K. Snow, S. C. Leppelman, H. L. Clatworthy, W. E. Evans, A. H. Montgomery, C. Kling, J. Waite, E. W. Kingsley, and H. B. Howeth.

The proceeds are to be applied toward the section's contribution to flat silver for the new club-house.

The section wishes especially to thank Mrs. Paul A. Brattain for her kindness in turning over her studio for this dance.

Pupils' Program

A musical program of real merit, given Saturday night by pupils of Mrs. Eva J. Cunningham, entertained a group of relatives and friends at the Frank Ayars home at 315 North Orange street.

Bouquet of carnations and arrangements of daffodils were artistically arranged about the Ayars home for the affair.

A feature of the program was that all the children played from memory and the program was given perfectly without one interruption. Both the pupils and Mrs. Cunningham were heartily complimented on the splendid work done.

Following the program refreshments were served and the children enjoyed games on the lawn.

Mrs. Cunningnan presented on the program Nan Jones, Evelyn Apfell, Estelle Taylor, Ralph Cunningham, Edna Paull, Mary Frances Allison, Doris Stamps, Shelton Allison, Alice Ayars, Vene Smith, Alene Robinson, Esther Wintersgill, Marion Ballard, Beatrice Case, Marguerite Chappell, Rebecca Brant, Irene Robison, Isabel Tousey, Gladys Woodyard.

Juvenile Meeting

Juvenile members of the Music club met Saturday afternoon at the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school. In the absence of the president, Susie Smith, Margaret Hellman presided. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Rebecca Brant.

Wilma Kulp, corresponding secretary, spoke on Friday night at the meeting of the Music club at the high school.

The Saturday program was given by Betty Webster, Florence Hellman and Wilma McCourt, all of whom gave piano numbers. Singing of old songs was later enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held two weeks from last Saturday at the home of Jane Thimm at 105 West Wilson avenue.

Hear Mrs. Woods

Mrs. Nanno Woods is to give patriotic numbers on the program tomorrow afternoon at the Parent-Teacher association meeting at the Cerritos Avenue school.

Preceding the program at 1:15 o'clock, there will be a noon meeting of the executive board. Following the program Mrs. O. W. Esselman, president, will have charge of a regular business meeting.

Honor Teachers

Teachers at the Central Avenue school are to be honored at a luncheon, given tomorrow noon by Mrs. D. F. Reichard, president of the school P.-T. A. and room mothers of the association.

After the luncheon plans are to be made for the apron booth the school is to have at the coming P.-T. A. Federation bazaar.

Accorded Praise

Tuesday Afternoon club members who presented "An Old-Fashioned Garden" last week as the charter program of the Glendale Music club, are greatly pleased over the receipt of a request from another local club to present the sketch as one of their programs.

The request has come to Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the Music Section, who has been showered with compliments for her devoted and clever work in directing the sketch.

In addition to being curator of the section Mrs. Roberts is treasurer of the Music club, so her work in directing the program was a two-fold service, for which members of both organizations have accorded her the highest praise.

The Music section is to receive a certain amount from the Music club to apply on the money being raised to secure a grand piano for the new Tuesday Afternoon club house.

Talented members of the Music section appearing in the "Old-Fashioned Garden" were Edith Rogers Arnold, Helen Graham Cole, Phoebe Armstrong Marlenee, Riffa Leighton, Florence Cowan Parker, Mildred Cowan Meadows, Helen E. McMullin, Gladys Gibbs Sherman, Zetie Duncan Nash and Virginia Freeman.

Lela Hogan Draper, one of the most prominent vocalists, was prevented from appearing because of illness.

Benefit Affair

An afternoon of bridge and five hundred has been planned for Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce hall, by a group of Tuesday Afternoon club women, members of the music section. It is to be a benefit affair to augment the section pledge to purchase a grand piano for the new club house.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Alexander Mitchell, Lillian Dow, Warren Roberts, G. Phillips, Sallie Braden, R. A. Puffer, Sr., Colin Cable, C. L. Vierick and Miss Eva Daniels.

Prizes are to be awarded for the high scores and refreshments will be served.

The card games will begin at 2 o'clock.

Dinner Hostess

The patriotic motif was very effectively used in the decorations and appointments of a very delightful dinner given by Miss Victoria Lamont, Friday evening at her home, 330 El Bonita, complimenting Miss Anita Clemens, of Alhambra, who is leaving for an extended visit with her parents in Michigan.

George Washington and his famous cherry tree centered the attractive table and the favors were in the national colors. Covers were laid for twelve. Those honoring Miss Clemens were Mr. and Mrs. D. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Lamont, Mrs. D. Hussey, the Misses Pauline Friese, Marie Chase, Gertrude Matterns, Gladys and Victoria Lamont, Raymond Eckert and Leonard Lamont.

Plan Big Banquet

The date of the big annual Tri Mu Bible class banquet is Friday, February 23; place, the First Baptist church, corner of Wilson and Louise; time, 7 o'clock at night.

Every man in this class is asked to do two things: First, come promptly at the above hour, so as to be on time for supper, and bring his wife or friend, as the case may be; and, second, to invite some other man to come likewise accompanied.

Bob Shuler will be the principal speaker, and a fine, inspiring time is assured.

News of Wedding

A wedding of interest to many Glendale people was solemnized at 4 o'clock Saturday, February 18, 1923, at the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood, when Miss Eva Jacks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jacks of 251 South Vermont street, became the bride of J. W. Hoult of 200½ West Broadway, Glendale. Only relatives and intimate friends were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hoult are spending their honeymoon in Santa Barbara. Upon their return they will be at home at 309 East Colorado boulevard, Glendale.

Invite Fathers

Fathers of Glendale Avenue Intermediate school pupils are invited to attend the patriotic program to be given Wednesday night at the school under the auspices of the school Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. W. C. Wattles, president of the P.-T. A., will be in charge.

Needlecraft Club

Mrs. E. E. Haw of 425 West Wilson avenue was hostess Friday afternoon to the members of the Wilson Avenue Needlecraft club at a pleasant porch party. An informal program of music was a feature of the afternoon's enjoyment. Light refreshments were served.

Meet on Tuesday

Mrs. H. D. Charlton of 326 West Salem street is to be hostess tomorrow afternoon at the meeting at 2 o'clock of the Maids and Young Matrons' section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. George Postle will give a review of Sinclair Lewis' "Babbette."

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The stock market was irregular in the late dealings today, many issues rallying about 1 point from the early low levels. Gulf States made a strong feature on dividend rumors, advancing over 3 points. Stromberg was in demand, showing a gain of over 8 points.

Motor stocks rallied after declines of from 1@2 points. New Haven was in demand, following the supreme court decision on the New England rates, moving up 2½ points from its early low. American Woolen sold at 102½.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were irregular.

Trading in Grain

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Trade in grain today was erratic with the undercurrent bullish. The market opening with an appearance of strength, quickly began to soften and then broke. Subsequently, the market reacted and the close was firmer than the finish on Saturday.

The weakness evident early in the trading developed in the face of the bullish news from outside world. Foreign exchange and the Liverpool wheat market were lower.

Wheat closed ⅛ @ ⅜c higher. Corn was fractionally lower and oats ⅛ @ ¼c higher.

MANIACS TRAPPED IN ASYLUM FIRE

Authorities Seek to Place Blame for Deaths of Home's Inmates

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—As searchers explored today the still smouldering ruins of the state asylum for the insane on Ward's Island for the bodies of maniac blaze victims, a bitter controversy was raging between asylum officials and New York City officials over responsibility for the tragedy in which twenty-five lives were lost yesterday.

The flames, believed to have started as a result of a short circuit, found the large institution with no adequate means of combatting fire.

A single horse drawn fire engine of antiquated type and a volunteer brigade of attendants who distinguished themselves by their bravery was all that could be mustered.

City apparatus, rushing to the bank of the East river opposite the island, was unable to get across on the small ferry. By the time two fireboats arrived, the tragedy was complete.

Six separate investigations were begun today. They were started by Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert; the fire department; State Hospital Commissioner Floyd Haviland; Captain Arthur Carey of the homicide squad; Attorney General Carl Sherman and Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Norris.

Dr. Norris said it would be extremely difficult to determine the cause because all evidence would have been destroyed by the fire.

Five Die in Fire

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Five persons lost their lives today in two fires.

Four negroes were smothered to death from a blaze of unknown origin in an old tenement in Brooklyn and a child of 3 was burned to death in an east side apartment fire.

IRISH PURCHASE RUSS MUNITIONS

Free State Head Declares Irregulars Plan War With Soviet Guns

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—Republican irregulars are attempting to buy guns and ammunition from soviet Russia to carry on war against the Irish Free State, President William T. Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann charges. The Free State official said that the conflict would continue "regardless of costs," unless the republicans yielded.

"The statement of the republican irregulars that the Free State government made peace overtures is a deliberate falsehood," declared President Cosgrave. "The government's terms for reconciliation are clear; no others will be entertained."

(The keystone of the Free State proposals was that the republicans must surrender their arms before there could be an election to determine the issue in dispute.)

Leaders Spread Lies

"Irregular leaders are circulating falsehoods to blind their followers," continued President Cosgrave. "But the Free State government is determined to put down this revolt regardless of the costs. Let no man be deceived. If anyone continues this unnatural war after the amnesty decree expires he must be prepared to pay the penalty. There will be no going back. There will be no meetings with Eamonn de Valera or Liam Lynch or their irregular colleagues.

"The guns and ammunition which the irregulars are trying to buy from Russia may add to the destruction, but they will not bring De Valera nor any of his followers appreciably nearer to victory nor will they bring about extermination of the Irish nation."

The decree of amnesty expires tomorrow.

COMB HOLLYWOOD FOR DEATH CLEW

Remington's Film Associates May Tell Police of Murder Motive

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—The social activities of Earl Remington were being trailed today through Hollywood motion picture circles by police detectives who have been baffled up to now to determine a motive for the shooting and stabbing to death early Friday morning of the handsome clubman and prominent business man.

Coincident with the coroner's inquest today it was forecast that Miss Aime Torriana and another motion picture actress whose name is being withheld would probably be summoned before the grand jury to repeat details of some of Remington's commercial and domtseic difficulties which he had confided to them.

"Peggy" Remington, the widow, was expected to be the principal witness before the coroner.

Honor Longfellow

Tribute is to be paid to the memory of William Wadsworth Longfellow, poet, tomorrow afternoon at the Colonial party held at the home of Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward at 307 North Kenwood street for members and guests of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club. It will be guest day and every member will be privileged to bring a visitor.

Mrs. Hayward has arranged an exceptionally attractive program, to be presented by Mrs. Laura Daniels, chairman of the history and landmarks committee of the Pasadena Shakespeare club of Pasadena; Mrs. Edwin A. Knapp, also of the Shakespeare club of Pasadena, formerly instructor of music in the schools of Kansas City; and Mrs. H. C. Wilcox of Glendale.

Mrs. Daniels will read "John Alden's Courtship" as told by Longfellow. Mrs. Knapp will entertain with vocal and instrumental music; and Mrs. Wilcox will read some of Longfellow's shorter poems.

Mrs. A. R. Eastman will be the assisting hostess.

Wed In Ventura

News has been received in Glendale of the marriage Saturday, February 17, 1923, in Ventura of Miss Dorothy Pratt and Worley Patterson. Miss Pratt was at one time in training at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. The marriage followed a short engagement and the news will be a surprise to their Glendale friends.

Attending the wedding were Mr. Patterson's sisters, Misses Allie and Jose Patterson, and H. W. McBryant, a close friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are to reside in Pasadena, where Mr. Patterson is employed.

At Holbrook Home

The Legislative Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club is to meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the curator, Mrs. B. A. Holbrook.

Mrs. Lillian Empey will give a report of the legislative council held the first of this month; and then Mrs. Harry Greenwalt will tell the members how a bill presented to the legislature becomes a law.

There will be a discussion of the Shephard-Towner Maternity bill.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons, and, too, other church news:

Coming of Christ Is World's Hope, Claim

The second coming of Christ is intended to be the pole-star of the church!" said Rev. Keith L. Brooks yesterday morning in the council room at the City Hall before the Men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church.

"The time of it is nowhere revealed, that Christians might ever be living and laboring in this purifying hope. The apostle plainly hints that he had nothing to reveal as to the period of time to expire or any particular crisis of time. They were to grasp the main fact of Christ's return in such a time as should please the Father and leave times entirely to Him.

"It is strange that there has been so much of time-setting. Jesus Himself says, 'For it is not for you to know the times or the seasons which the Father hath put in His own power.' Evidently the knowledge of the times is outside the province of human thought, yet speculations of this kind have been repeatedly ventured on and invariably they have proved worthless. The only thing certain about the second coming is that it is as sure to take place as was the first advent."

God Is Present, Says Lutheran Minister

"A Lenten Meditation" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the First Lutheran church.

"Our God has not gone off on a journey," declared Dr. H. C. Funk. "Neither has He fallen asleep and left us to be consumed by the fires of lust and the appalling wickedness of man, but high above the storm and far o'er the mighty deep there sits enthroned in royal majesty our Creator.

"And shall not He, who created the heavens and the earth, who made the sun to rule by day and the moon and the stars to shine by night, shall not He, who created every living thing and who created man in His own image, also have dominion over them?

"Trust God, go about doing good and verily thou shalt be fed. Man's extremity is God's opportunity. When we can see nothing but failure, God may yet see success. Better subscribe to the Lord's plan and commit thy way to Him."

Love for Sinner More Than Hatred for Sin

"Christ loves the sinner but He hates sin," remarked Rev. H. O. Kringel yesterday at the Evangelical Lutheran church.

"Every sin is an abomination in His sight. Not for this reason does Christ love the evildoer, because he despises and rejects his Lord and Savior and turns his back on Him and does naught to be saved—no, but because he has an immortal soul which is capable of eternal salvation and which Jesus longs to save.

"Indeed His love to those who reject Him would not be a true love if it were not sacred love.

"Why does the Lord follow them who reject Him? His object is to turn them from their wickedness and to induce them to seek the Lord their God; that is, to repent of their sins and to believe in Christ as the only way unto salvation."

Following the pastor's vivid description of the manner in which Christ asked all to come to Him for rest, he then portrayed the fervent and sacred love of Christ.

Encouragement Is Need Of World, Says Rasmus

"I am to bring you the gospel of encouragement this morning," said Dr. H. I. Rasmus yesterday at the First Methodist church.

"How much the world needs encouragement!" he exclaimed. "Have we lost, or did we ever have, the art of national encouragement? Suppose England were to begin to encourage Russia, France to encourage Germany, then America to encourage all the nations of the earth—what would be the result?

"This. Prosperity such as the commercial world has never witnessed. But this will not be until hate has ceased. Nor will it come to pass until more value is placed upon the bodies and souls of men than upon oil wells of Mesopotamia and the greed of national aggrandizement.

"The world is very slow to adopt the processes of Jesus in bringing peace and good will to men.

Peter's Life Is Text Of Dr. J. F. Winnard

"The Warming-Up of a Cold Man" was the title of the sermon, based on the life of Peter, which was delivered yesterday morning at the Tropico Presbyterian church.

Dr. James F. Winnard laid special emphasis upon how Peter got cold. He said that it might have been by sleeping out in the open air at night.

"It was thus," he remarked, "that his Lord found him and rebuked him saying: 'Coulds't thou not watch with me one hour?' Or it maye be that he got overheated when he drew his sword and cut off the ear of the servant of the high priest and then cooled off too suddenly. At any rate, we know that it did not take him long to cool off.

"Or perhaps it was by standing around in the chill of the early morning waiting to see what would be done with his Lord. While standing by that brazier in the courtyard Peter was nearer hell fire than at any other time in his whole life—and he thought he was getting warm.

"How vainly do men seek to satisfy their needs outside of Him 'through whom every need is supplied.' "

Husbands Are Objects Of Rev. Cole's Sermon

A large congregation attended services last night in the Central Christian church to hear the first of a group of sermons by Rev. C. A. Cole on family relationships.

Husbands were the special objects of consideration. A number of faults reported previous to the occasion by a score of wives were discussed freely.

"Men ought to live such lives in the home that they would be worthy examples to their children," stated Rev. Cole in positive language. "They should always hold sacred the ties of marriage which should be always on the plane of love."

In regard to the husband, who does not love his mother-in-law, Rev. Cole admitted a possibility that the mother-in-law might have gotten a bad bargain as a son-in-law.

No comment was made on the case of the wife who reported that her husband was like a troublesome "Tabby," and who wanted to tie him up in an empty sack and lose him on a vacant lot.

C. L. Viereck Plans to Build Store, Apartments

C. L. Viereck of 311 East Stocker street, has recently purchased through Hilda M. Commons, of the firm of Endicott & Larson, 100 feet of the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Lexington Drive, and is now planning the immediate erection of a two-story store and apartment building to cover the entire corner.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

HENRIETTA PFEIFER

Mrs. Henrietta Pfeifer died Sunday, February 18, 1923, at the family home at 717 Santa Anita avenue, Burbank, at the age of 48 years.

The deceased had resided in Glendale for ten years and during the past three and a half years had lived in Burbank.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Jewel City Undertaking chapel. Burial will be in Grandview Memorial park. Mrs. Pfeifer was a devoted member of the Seventh Day Adventist church.

CHARLES DEAN OLNEY

RUBBER CO. ASKS FILIPINO LEASE

Bill Would Allow Firestone to Cultivate Immense Area Of Land in Islands

MANILA, Feb. 19.—It was expected here today that a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Pedro Guevara granting a franchise to the Firestone Rubber company to exploit a large acreage of United States public domain in the Philippine Islands for a rubber plantation, under a twenty-five year term, will be passed. The bill would grant the privilege of renewal of the franchise for a second twenty-five years.

The rubber company, it is understood here, is prepared to invest $60,000,000 so as to obtain raw rubber under the American flag and avoid preferential tariffs elsewhere.

Senator Guevara has been elected a member of the Philippine commission at Washington succeeding C. Deveyra, now there, and announced his last speech would be in favor of the bill.

"We want to prove that Filipinos have no prejudice against American capital," he declared.

The adaptability of the proposed lands for rubber has been well established.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

A continuation of last Thursday's Council meeting, which adjourned at midnight, will be held tonight at the city hall, according to City Manager W. H. Reeves. He stated that he knew of no special business to be transacted beyond the ordinary routine.

Lithuanians Open Artillery Attack on Forces in Vilna Corridor

PARIS, Feb. 19.—A new war is threatened in eastern Europe today. Official advices reaching the foreign office today stated that Lithuania artillery on Sunday morning began shelling the positions of Polish troops that occupied the territorial corridor at Vilna awarded to Poland by the League of Nations.

British Evacuating

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The British army of occupation on the Rhine is evacuating the strip of territory bordered by the towns of Neuss, Grevenbruck, Duren, Merken and Elsdorf to permit the use of the Dusseldorf-Bonn railroad by the French for the movement of coal, coke, troops and military supplies, said a Dusseldorf despatch to l'Information today.

Hold Conference Over Planning Commission

City Manager Reeves, representing the municipality, and James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Peter L. Ferry, today are conferring with Supervisor Henry W. Wright on the advisability of having a Glendale representative on the county planning commission.

Combined potato digger and loader is proving a success.
